End Of Court Fight Seen

NEW DEALERS JUBILANT AS JURIST QUILTS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(UP)—New Dealers jubilantly proclaimed today that Associate Justice George Sutherland's retirement from the Supreme Court would open a new era of liberal trends, a further extension of federal powers and judicial protection of administration policies.

President Roosevelt's effort to reorganize the Supreme Court, is believed now to be ended.

Sutherland's action and the likelihood of other retirements are opening to the President an opportunity to name a strong minority of actual "Roosevelt justices."

New Deal Coup

Defended by these "Roosevelt justices" and supported in greater or less degree by the existing liberal or moderate members of the court, distinctly New Deal theories are likely to find refuge now where they once were scored.

"It seems to me that this is the definite end of an epoch," Sen. Sherman Minton, D., Ind., said today of Sutherland's retirement.

"The future will see a definite extension of the power of the federal government to protect the people."

U.S. SPEEDS PLANS FOR NAVY 'SECOND TO NONE'

Quinn Turns Down French Medal Offer

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 6.—(UP)—John R. Quinn, past national and state commander of the American Legion, said today he returned a French government Legion of Honor decoration because it carried an implication of "inferiority of service I am unwilling to admit."

Quinn said he received the medal, designating him as an "officer" of the Legion of Honor last Monday night.

All other past commanders of the American Legion so decorated have been awarded a "Commander of the Legion of Honor" designation, he explained.

"In returning the decoration to the French embassy in Washington, I pointed out that I had served during the World War with the armed forces of the United States on the soil of France," he said.

"I also pointed out that I had taken orders of the French military to an extent beyond those ordinarily required, and that I served the American Legion as a national and state commander with merit."

"I felt that to accept a decoration inferior to that conferred upon my fellow past national American Legion commanders would be a confession of inferiority of service I am unwilling to admit."

Quinn, director of the state department of military and veterans' affairs, said he expressed his appreciation of the courtesy of their gesture and his regret that he could not feel justified in accepting the honor.

JOINS WORLD IN ARMAMENT COMPETITION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(UP)—Navy department officials rushed plans today for construction of the greatest peacetime navy this country has ever possessed.

President Roosevelt has expressed alarm over the unsettled international situation and the growing disregard for treaty rights and international law.

Navy officials prepared plans for a naval construction program above the present "replacement" building program authorized in the Vinson-Trammell act.

This additional construction will be asked in a supplemental bill to

Japanese To Censor News From China

SHANGHAI, Jan. 6.—(UP)—Japanese authorities announced today that they intended to put censors in the offices used by all foreign cable companies. Censors were installed yesterday in radio offices.

A Japanese embassy spokesman announced that censorship of cables and radio was effective. It is directed primarily to matter other than press news, he said, but the press also is subject to censorship.

The censors are civilians. Correspondents will not be informed of what has been censored. Recent terrorism in the International Settlement was reported to be responsible for the move.

Leaves for Manila

The United States cruiser Augusta, which has been the flagship of Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander-in-chief of the American fleet, left for Manila today.

Admiral Yarnell transferred his flag to the navy patrol vessel Isabel and made the gunboat Sacramento the station ship.

Japanese continued marching slowly through Shanghai Province, north of the Shanghai area, toward Tsingtao on the coast. Eight Americans at Pingtu, 50 miles northwest of Tsingtao, refused to leave there despite efforts of American Consul Samuel Sokobin to persuade them to join other Americans at Tsingtao, ready to evacuate if necessary.

CREW OF 7 ON MISSING SEA PLANE

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Jan. 6.—(UP)—A giant navy patrol bomber has been missing for more than 20 hours and the fate of its crew of seven officers and men has not been established, the navy admitted here today.

The plane, attached to VP-7 squadron which last year won the Schiff trophy for the finest safety record in the navy, was engaged in a routine "security patrol" far off the Catalina coast when it disappeared yesterday.

Start Search

Today two coastguard cutters, the Itasca and Aurora, large numbers of destroyers, and more than a score of navy planes were engaged in an intensive search.

Capt. Alva Bernhard, chief of staff to Rear Admiral Ernest J. King, commander of aircraft scouting force, confirmed reports the plane was missing. First reports of the missing craft had come from the coast guard.

Capt. Bernhard said he could not release names of the members of the crew, but said the plane was designated as "T-P-4"—the designation means the craft is No. 4 in the VP-7 squadron.

Flying Alone

It was learned that at the time it disappeared the bomber, one of the navy's most modern type, was flying alone, and not in squadron formation.

EDEN OIL REPORT UPHOLDS COUNTY IN $1729 "BATTLE"

Following receipt of the long-awaited report from Dr. Arnold O. Beckman, Caltech chemist who found Eden road oil samples defective, in connection with the refinery's $1729 suit against the county, attorneys in the case today awaited word from Superior Judge Benjamin F. Warner of San Bernardino regarding further proceedings in the case and when the court will file its decision.

Dr. Beckman's report, awaited by Judge Warner as the final evidence in the case, was filed here yesterday. It stated that samples of Eden road oil furnished the county during 1936 failed to meet contract specifications "by a very wide margin," and further declared, in substance, that his analysis showed that county officials could not have tampered with the samples, by doctoring them with water, to serve their own purposes.

May Hold Hearing

The only remaining procedure in open court, it was believed, would be the hearing of argument by counsel, should Judge Warner decide to hear the attorneys. All oral evidence had been completed last June when the court, indicating that something was wrong in the case, ordered an analysis by Dr. Beckman of previously unused samples of road oil, in an effort to discover whether there had been tampering with the samples, or the samples previously analyzed had given a true indication of the oil content. Samples of Huntington Beach crude oil also were ordered taken by the Shepard-Pendleton company, of Long Beach, which supplied them to Dr. Beckman for analysis.

Dr. Beckman's analysis covered unused oil samples stored in the Santa Ana "yard" of the road department. His report states that these samples showed approximately the same water content that was found in the samples at the Garden Grove "yard" which had been previously analyzed by another laboratory and made the basis of the county's refusal to pay the Eden company's $1729 claim.

NLRB IN NEW FORD ATTACK

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(UP)—National Labor Relations Board announced today that it had forwarded by mail to the sixth circuit court of appeals in Cincinnati, Ky., a petition asking enforcement of its cease and desist order against the Ford Motor Company.

The petition said it sought court action following refusal of the Ford Company to abide by the NLRB ruling.

The board rejected a petition from the company yesterday to reopen hearings on the basis of which the NLRB ordered Ford to cease and desist alleged discrimination against the United Automobile Workers Union.

REPORT CHINESE IN MOVE TO SEEK PEACE

TOKYO, Jan. 6.—(UP)—The cabinet has received reports that the Chinese government may soon seek peace with Japan, it was asserted today.

Tadao Kazami, secretary to the cabinet, announced that a series of ministerial conferences held yesterday dealt with the Chinese situation as the result of receipt of advices that the Chinese "had come to show increasing publicity their intention to sue for peace."

There were rumors here, unconfirmed, that China already had prepared peace terms and was ready to submit them to Japan. Kazami said that Japan was carrying on her campaign in China at great sacrifice with the sole purpose of obtaining permanent peace.

ARTIST SLAIN; KILLER SOUGHT

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 6.—(UP)—The blood-spattered apartment of Harry A. Raynes, an artist who prospered in the movie colony, was sealed and guarded by police today while they looked for clues to his violent death.

A Negro houseboy found Raynes' body last night on the bedroom floor. He had been dead about 24 hours. Overturned furniture and blood on the walls of living room, bathroom and bedroom gave evidence of a fierce struggle.

Body Battered

The artist's head bore a deep wound and there were numerous bruises on his body.

The condition of the apartment indicated that Raynes probably had battled furiously with an assailant, but one detective, Tom Cavitt, said it was possible that the man had fallen accidentally in the bathroom, gashed his head, and then stumbled the apartment with blood before he died. Cavitt's theory did not account for the overturned furniture or Raynes' bruises.

Plan Autopsy

A coroner's surgeon was to perform an autopsy today and possibly determine whether the blow on the head killed the artist, and whether it might have been inflicted accidentally.

Little was learned of Raynes' art. The houseboy, Charles Bowie, said "I was talking to him the other day and he said he was an artist." Several members of the Hollywood art colony said they had never heard of Raynes, but one artist said the name seemed familiar and he believed that Raynes "had an exhibit."

CONGRESSMEN BEGIN WORK ON HUGE APPROPRIATIONS BILL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(UP)—Congress today began work on appropriations for government needs in 1939 with a $1,414,818,515 bill carrying funds for 37 independent agencies—$3,732,020 under President Roosevelt's request and $118,538,800 under the current year.

The President asked a cut off $123,663,000, in funds for the civilian conservation corps and the committee upheld him in approving the budget estimate of $266,331,000. This item promised to make trouble in house debate.

Avoid Delay

House leaders previously had obtained consent to waive the usual period of delay between a bill's introduction and the beginning of floor debate, so that the house was ready to begin consideration after receipt of the report.

The early start of appropriations was made possible by hearings before the special session opened last year. Congressional leaders hoped

Since Monday—the date set by the government for expropriation of the resort for a military aviation school—the workers have held the hotel and its grounds.

A proposal which would permit the workers to operate the dining room, bar and spa in the hotel grounds on a co-operative basis while the federal government utilized the airport and golf clubhouse for its school, was drawn up yesterday.

WOMAN HELD CAPTIVE FOR 23 YEARS BY HUSBAND IS FREED

FRESNO, Jan. 6.—(UP)—The wife and nine children of Marcos Cadena today accused him of holding them prisoners in their home most of their lives. He was held for a lunacy hearing.

He governed them with a club of 12 or 13. Then they were withdrawn and sent into the streets to beg.

Cadena, now a man of 70, was held in jail today. He was charged with assault and battery on his wife, but a sanity hearing was ordered to determine whether he will serve 10 months in jail or be sent to an asylum. The complaint was made by a daughter, Mrs. Vera Muran, 19, who said she escaped from the house and was married in Merced, Calif. She tolerated the situation after she left home, she said, until she heard this week that her father had "choked her mother almost to insensibility. Then she had been arrested."

DAILY PAPERS TOP 41 MILLION IN CIRCULATION

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 6.—(UP)—Net paid circulation of daily newspapers published in the United States was estimated at 41,400,000 by the editors of the 1938 edition of N. W. Ayer & Son's Directory of Newspapers and Periodicals, which was published today.

Of this total, 25,800,000 represented evening papers and 15,600,000 morning papers, according to the directory.

While the number of newspapers declined in 1937 by 221 from the previous year's total, there was an increase of 51 in the number of periodicals listed for the first time, but this increase was partly offset by decreases in other classifications, directory editors said.

The directory, now in its 70th year, listed 2,884 daily English language newspapers, a decrease of 23 from the previous year; 10,629 weeklies, a decrease of 176; and 558 semi-weeklies, a decrease of 18.

There were listed, however, 15 more daily papers with Sunday editions, an increase of 11 in the number of foreign-language daily papers, and three more tri-weekly papers.

The directory, for the first time, classified daily papers according to the morning and evening fields, and listed 1,605 evening papers, 454 morning, and 25 all-day.

In the directory were listed 20,683 publications in the United States, Canada, Newfoundland, Bermuda and the West Indies.

Also in the directory are a map and description of each state's geography, population, agriculture and forests, and a brief summary of information on each county, city and town listed.

END OF F. D. R.'S COURT FIGHT SEEN

It will be less difficult to make a democracy work."

Senators were confident that Mr. Roosevelt's next Supreme Court nominee would be amply examined by a Senate committee before confirmation, to avoid the embarrassment and second guessing which accompanied discovery that Associate Justice Hugo L. Black had been a member of the Ku Klux Klan in Alabama.

Read Favored

Geographical and political considerations suggest that Mr. Roosevelt will name a western Dealer to the court, but there is no compelling reason why he must go west for a man merely because Sutherland was from Utah. Senate gossip favors Solicitor General Stanley Reed.

The new "Roosevelt court" probably would uphold legislation to Appointment of a "Roosevelt justice" will put a prop under the of New Deal lawyers in congress, forbid child labor, in the opening toll bill which congress may finally enact this month.

The old agricultural adjustment act was invalidated in January 1936 by a 6-to-3 vote in which the majority supported Associate Justice Owen J. Roberts' opinion that the act provided for compulsory regulation of agricultural products; that such regulation was not within the scope of federal power.

Sutherland and former Associate Justice Willis Van Devanter were two of the six. Van Devanter was succeeded by Black, who believes the AAA was constitutional. Mr. Roosevelt undoubtedly will pick a like-minded man to succeed Sutherland.

Inventories Hit High

He said used car conditions, inventories of which reached an all time high in 1937, increased costs of labor and materials and strikes and "unauthorized stoppages" made difficult the company policy of "keeping the maximum number of people working consistent with the demand."

"It is the policy of the corporation to control its production through a record of the retail sales of its dealers, this record being tabulated after each 10-day period in each month," Knudsen said.

"The object of the frequent checks on sales is to keep production in balance with sales and to prevent an excessive stock in the field, which throws employment out of balance."

"Costs have increased sharply during 1937. Labor rates are 25 per cent higher than in 1936, and material costs rose sharply during the first half of 1937. The over-all increase in car costs amount to 13 1-2 per cent in 1937. General Motors elected to carry this burden without increasing prices, until the period of August to October, 1937, when price increases of 1-2 per cent were put in force on all cars."

"Shop efficiency suffered in the first half of 1937 to a considerable extent through strikes and unauthorized stoppages, the actual man-hour loss being about 40,000,000. The loss in manufacturing efficiency has, however, shown considerable improvement since the new models were announced, and both quality and costs are at the present time up to expectation, and can be expected to remain in that position, since strikes have stopped and labor relations are much improved. Wage rates are at an all time high, and despite time lost in strikes, the average annual wage in 1937 was about $1650 for the 80 per cent of the men who worked full time."

Knudsen said that the 1937 earnings per share for General Motors were $4.48 compared to $5.35 for 1936. The surplus at the end of the first 11 months of 1937 was $452,547,000, or $54,000,000 over 1936, he said.

A confidential intra-agency report, prepared by the division of research statistics and records, showed that WPA is trying to give more relief per dollar than ever before. It revealed that 97.2 per cent of all persons on WPA rolls had been certified by local relief groups as needing aid. The remaining 2.8 per cent includes foremen, supervisors and directing officials.

The Works Progress Administration, seeking to keep within its $1,500,000,000 appropriation for the 1938 fiscal year, has cut the number of its non-relief employees to the lowest point in the agency's history, it was learned today.

DEVICE CREATED TO TUNE VIOLIN

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Jan. 6.—(UP)—Invention of an indicating tuner, which harnesses sympathetic vibrations, has been achieved here by Frederick Alyn, English-born violin instructor.

The device, it was reported, does away with the difficult task of tuning by ear, and may be adapted to any stringed instrument.

"As a violinist and teacher," said the inventor, who is 37, and served three years on the western front during the World War, "I have felt the handicap under which the young student labors until his ear becomes trained and he is proficient enough to keep his instrument in tune."

"For instance, when a pupil comes for a lesson his teacher tunes the instrument and tries, of course, to explain the process, but there is much to learn in the beginning. On the way home the instrument is jarred, the strings loosen. Unable to tune it, the student practices all week with it out of tune. This handicaps him and prevents him from acquiring in a few weeks the ability to tune his instrument by ear."

But with the automatic tuner, he said, no boy can tell his mother he can't practice because his violin or guitar is out of tune.

The secret of Alyn's invention was not revealed. It is contained in a little box in which there are four piano wires. A tiny ring of compressed rubber composition hangs around each wire which, when the correct pitch of the strings is obtained, dance vigorously. Thus the beginner can "see" the instrument tuned.

The sympathetic vibrations indicate when a violin or other stringed instrument is in tune, and the player does not have to rely on untrained ears, or take the time of his instructor during a lesson.

TRANSIENT LOSES ARM IN ACCIDENT

A transient who carried a camping outfit, Thomas Feeley, about 45 or 50 years old, was in county hospital today, in critical condition following near-amputation of his right arm by a Santa Fe train in Fullerton about 3 p. m. yesterday.

Feeley, according to officials, either became confused and staggered on to the tracks in Fullerton east of Harvard street, or deliberately attempted to take his own life.

Some reported that witnesses believed he was attempting to board the train at the time. Others reported he assertedly was waving a quart of whiskey about in the air as the train approached and was intoxicated. Removed to Fullerton general hospital by Fullerton police, for first aid treatment, Feeley then was transferred to county hospital by the Orange County ambulance service where it was necessary to amputate the arm. His condition is critical today, attendants said.

Charged with committing slander, Charles Boyden, 37, resident of a local hotel was scheduled to appear today in Tustin justice court before Judge D. T. Hayden for arraignment and setting of trial date.

The complaining witness is G. W. Bowles, of a Los Angeles hotel. It was reported the slander charge, a misdemeanor, was the result of a difference of opinion over an advertising contract. Boyden was arrested here last night by Officers F. L. Grouard and Tom Kinney after Chief John Stanton of Tustin furnished them with a warrant.

Bowles charged Boyden, with malicious intent, in the hearing of others, called Bowles a "dead beat," stating that anyone dealing with Boyden could be "hijacked," that all of the statements were with intent to impeach the integrity of Bowles and to hold him up to public ridicule.

POLIO CHIEFS PLAN CAMPAIGN

Fred Marker, Orange county chairman of the National Infantile Paralysis Foundation fund campaign for this year, has called a meeting of all city chairmen of the area to be held at 2 p. m. Monday in the office of Postmaster Frank Harwood. Harwood is chairman for the campaign in Santa Ana.

Fletcher Valentine knows tobacco values...like so many other independent experts he smokes Luckies!

"I've bought 4,000,000 pounds of tobacco at auctions in the past ten years," says Mr. Valentine, independent buyer of Westfield, N. C., "and my bread and butter depends on making the right bids. That's why I have to know tobacco values."

"Now I've smoked Luckies ever since 1918, and the reason is, they suit my taste to a 'T'. Nobody knows better than we tobacco men that Luckies are made of the finest center-leaf tobacco."

Yes—and that isn't all...Luckies' exclusive process, "It's Toasted" takes out certain irritants naturally present in all tobacco—even the finest! The result is that you will find Luckies not only taste good but are easy on your throat.

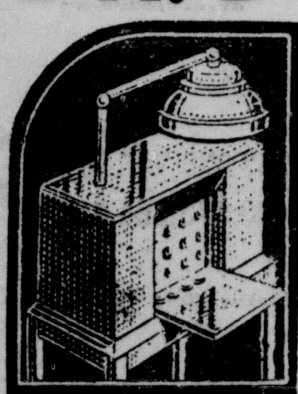

Surely, independent experts like Mr. Valentine make good judges of cigarettes...Sworn records show that, among independent tobacco experts, Luckies have twice as many exclusive smokers as have all other cigarettes combined!

CAPT. BARRYMORE TRENT—Hero, flying "Thunderbolt."
MIRANDA TRENT—Barrymore's grandmother; a "strong woman."

CHAPTER XVII
"YOUR little friend Mr. Abruzzi," the Duchess observed when he had shut the car door upon them, "is a rather discerning person; and I must say that in many respects he more closely approximates a gentleman than many who think they set the standards for the species. Although I can't understand," she went on frowning, "his opening your mail. He admitted to me without the faintest embarrassment that the letter I mailed you had never reached you because he tore it up and threw it into the wastebasket."

"But Tony always opened my mail. I didn't—you mean you wrote to me?"

"Naturally I wrote to you after Rita Blanchard came home with her amazing story, and the whole town began buzzing with it. The place for my grandson's wife is in his home."

"THEN you knew," Linda broke in. "You knew when—?"

"When Rita Blanchard staged her little tragedy-comedy, you mean? I did. And prayed in my heart that you would rise and blast her with a few well-chosen words. But you did not. . . And wondering why," said old Miranda irritably, "and why you chose to treat me like a child, cost me a perfectly good night's sleep. After that I—well, I preferred to have you tell me, yourself. You see, Judge Baldwin had written me of your marriage from the hospital before he died."

"But I hadn't any proof—nothing but my own word, I—"

"And I suppose it never occurred to you," snapped old Miranda, "that if I hadn't been willing to take your word against a stack of Bibles, you wouldn't have been in my house at all. . . And you never did mean to come to me?"

"No," Linda said steadily. "Never. Especially after—Tony's. I knew you thought—"

"And why," demanded Miranda Trent, "should you presume to know what I might or might not think? Do you imagine that I should hold a grudge against you, that

DOG POISONER IS SOUGHT BY OFFICERS OF LAGUNA BEACH

LAGUNA BEACH, Jan. 6.—What appears to be a planned campaign of dog poisoning, resulting in the agonizing deaths of several of Laguna's most beloved house pets, is the subject of police and private investigation here. In each instance, symptoms have been identical, veterinary assistance of no avail, and post mortem examination in every case showing the administration of deadly substances.

The circumstances surrounding each case bear a sinister similarity, despite the fact that the dogs destroyed are of widely differing breeds, belonging to residents in every section of the city.

Among the victims of the stealthy poisoner are numbered "Mick," smooth-haired fox terrier, pet of Miss Nadine Mason, daughter of Dr. B. B. Mason; one of a pair of pedigreed Boston terriers owned by Mrs. William O. Bridges; a full-blooded Belgian shepherd, owned by Edward E. Wells, of the Excelsior creamery and several others, including dogs in Laguna canyon, Cliff drive and other parts of town.

All dog victims of the poisoner were gentle, friendly and non-troublesome; all bore license tags and in every case were well known local characters. It is feared that their very friendliness made them easier prey for the miscreant who took advantage of their trustfulness.

Mrs. Helen Holt read a paper on "National Defense" and the historian's report was given by Mrs. Ethel Schauer. Refreshments were served on individual trays to the following: Mrs. Clifton Bryan, Mrs. Vivian Smith, Mrs. Hortense Rosset, Mrs. Ruth Mitchell, Mrs. Winifred German and daughter, Carol; Mrs. Grace Perkins, Mrs. Ethel Schauer, Mrs. Mabel Chaffee, Mrs. Marguerite Schneider and daughter, Dorothy; Miss Margaret Ann Rosset, Mrs. Pearl Wasson, Mrs. S. C. Oertly, Mrs. Helen Holt, Mrs. Mildred Smiley, Mrs. Laura Smith, Mrs. Goldie Harper, Mrs. Gydys Lamb, Mrs. Helen Dungan, Mrs. Genevieve Crosby and Mrs. Enola Monroe and son, Robert.

Hold Mesa Baby Clinic Jan. 10
COSTA MESA, Jan. 6.—Twisted crepe paper rope which will be made into knitting bags at the meeting next week was made by members of the arts and crafts section of the Friday Afternoon club Tuesday.

The monthly baby clinic, under the sponsorship of the club, with Mrs. A. L. Pinkley as chairman, will be held at the clubhouse Monday, Advance registration of children to be examined at the clinic is requested.

Present Tuesday were Mrs. M. J. Fickas, Mrs. N. O. Mellett, Mrs. W. G. Walker, Mrs. L. B. Smalley, Mrs. J. C. Payne, Mrs. Louise Bechtold and Mrs. C. Plas.

in spite of having been brought up like a china mantel-piece, you had backbone enough to go out and carve yourself a slice of the world?"

"When Linda would have spoken, the old lady cut her off with an imperious gesture.

"For if," she pursued, "you had known anything about me, you would have understood that the one thing I cannot stomach is a helpless nobby-pomboy. . . And even if I hadn't had to take my hat off to you for the way you faced down that pack of curiosity seekers the other day, I should never have thought of questioning my grandson's choice."

Linda smiled a little dubious smile and knew that she would never be afraid of Miranda Trent again.

ONCE back in the old house, it seemed to Linda as if she had never been away—except that that bare, dried-up Christmas tree no longer shed needles in the front parlor.

The days settled naturally into the old routine—only with a difference. Old Miranda began to consult Linda more and more about the details of their daily life.

"For after all, my dear Linda," the old lady said, "in due time this house will be yours. You must learn to administer it as a Trent should."

With the sturdy common sense that was so inseparably a part of her, Miranda Trent knew that come famine, flood, or earthquake, life must go on after a fashion. It was perhaps the greatest kindness she could have done Linda to keep her busy.

Not that life with old Miranda was a bed of roses—or ever could be. But Linda was learning to be amused rather than hurt when the old lady's weakness for the telling phrase got the better of her kindness, and her caustic tongue ran away with her.

One evening, almost a week after Linda's return, old Miranda looked up to say, "Why not tune into your friend Tony's program? Perhaps the elephants will sing. . . Do you know, I'm not at all sure he hadn't already picked his elephants that last night."

So Linda did tune in to the Villa Abruzzi. The two women waited with curiosity for the moment when the house would be darkened, and the strains of "Who is Silvia?" to float across the room. . . But Linda's successor was not

NEW WEAPON OF SPEAKER TELLS CRIMINAL TOLD SCHOOL TREND

ANAHEIM, Jan. 6.—The greatest weapon of the criminal today is not the machine gun but propaganda, according to District Attorney Byron Pitts of Los Angeles, who was a guest speaker Tuesday evening at the meeting of the Junior Ebell club at the Odd Fellows hall. Mrs. Robert C. Rundstrom, president, presided.

Telling of the duties of the prosecutor's office, Pitts said that the criminal today is much different from the criminal of ten years ago because the gangster now is not mentally sick but interested only in getting cash. He described the rackets built up by gangsters, saying that Chicago today pays $100,000,000 annually to racketeers. The new criminal is highly educated and as a rule well dressed, Pitts said, declaring that Al Capone had the mentality of a genius. He asked for support of officials by the public and an intelligent attitude toward propaganda which is instigated by gangsters themselves to tear down any honest official.

Floyd McCracken, Anaheim editor, spoke on the popularity of the true detective story.

Concluding the meeting, coffee, sandwiches and cake were served by the hostess committee with Mrs. Richard Glover as chairman.

The table was centered with an attractive bouquet of spring flowers. Assisting Mrs. Glover were Miss Helen Mahaffey, Miss Mary Louise Rundstrom, Miss Ruth Rymer, Mrs. Lee Hasenjaeger, Mrs. Pearl Filer, Mrs. Robert Hatfield, Mrs. Cortez Hoskins, Mrs. James Shankland and Mrs. Chester Ralston.

Prior to her coming to Fullerton, she was a resident of Orange, and was a member of the Orange Royal Neighbors lodge.

POLICE SEEK TO LINK 2 YOUTHS IN BURGLARIES

Following the capture of two alleged burglars in the act of leaving the residence of Dr. J. M. Burlew, 1015 North Broadway, about 9 p. m., police today were investigating activities of the pair to determine whether or not other burglaries might be laid to them. Their companions also are being questioned.

Captured in Chase
The youths, Danny DeSoto, 19, 214 Delhi road, and Howard Stoughton, 20, 333 Riverside street, were nabbed through the alertness of G. W. Easterly, 1024 North Sycamore, who chased DeSoto when he saw DeSoto jump over the fence at the rear of the doctor's home.

Seeing Easterly running down Sycamore street between 10th and Church streets, Officers C. V. Adams and Roy Hartley, cruising in a police radio patrol car, asked him what he was running for and, seeing they were officers, he directed them toward DeSoto.

Loot Is Found
Captured, DeSoto finally named his companion, according to police, after directing them, assertedly, to false addresses for some time, and took them to Stoughton's home. Stoughton later assertedly confessed and directed officers to a hiding place in his room where a woman's purse containing three one-dollar bills, small change, gloves and flashlight, were located. The loot was taken from an upstairs room and garage. The youths said they climbed into the window by standing on a fence. They are in jail on burglary charges. The doctor's nurse also identified the youths as those she had seen at the doctor's residence.

Two Drivers Face 'Drunk' Charges

A man and a woman were booked at county jail yesterday and last night on charges of drunk driving. The woman, Mrs. Daisy Jane Kerth, 26, Route 4, Santa Ana, who was arrested by Officers L. C. Rogers and Ralph Pantuso in the 400-block of Garfield street. She claimed she only became intoxicated after becoming angry. She refused to sign her name on the jail book slip.

Jack Moreno, 27, Rivera, was the second person charged with drunk driving. He was apprehended by San Clemente police.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 2 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Bank Presents Business Index

BUSINESS ACTIVITY IN STATE SLOWS DOWN DURING NOVEMBER

According to the monthly report received by the First National bank in Santa Ana, the rate of business activity in California slowed down during November, registering, for the first month since the business cycle turned upward in 1932, a decrease from the same month a year earlier.

The bank's index (graphed above), which attempts to measure California business activity in terms of the 1927-28 average, has dropped from 113.1 in May to 107.4 in November, as against 108.6 in November, 1936. For the first 11 months of 1937, the index averaged 110.9, as against 100.4 during the first 11 months last year.

Larger Yields Off-set
In agriculture, declining prices have been off-set by larger yields, making for somewhat greater total returns than those of 1936. In northern California, recent heavy rains, although causing some flood damage, have benefited livestock forage and farm production prospects for 1938; long overdue rains have fallen in the south.

California wine sales in the first 10 months of the year were 14 per cent larger than in the same 1936 period, with most of the increase occurring in out-of-state markets.

In the 1937-38 citrus crop-year which began November 1, both the navel and winter orange crop and the lemon crop promise increases of 24 per cent and 11 per cent, respectively, over last year's frost-damaged harvests.

Payrolls Drop
The seasonal downturn in food processing, plus curtailment in other industries during November, caused factory employment to fall 8.8 per cent below that of October; and, as average individual earnings were 2.6 per cent smaller, total payrolls dropped 11.1 per cent.

As compared with a year earlier, however, November employment was still 1.9 per cent larger, and average earnings 3.8 per cent higher, raising total payrolls to a point 5.3 per cent above the level of November, 1936.

TROOPS HUNT RABBITS
Koenigsberg, Prussia (UP)—Troops of the East Prussian garrison at Ortelburg have been sent out on a huge rabbit hunt along the Baltic coast. The trouble is that the rabbits' burrows have been threatening the safety of coastal defense structures.

Human beings breathe out enough carbon every hour to make a 100-carat diamond.

Driver Cleared At Court Session

A charge of drunk driving against Arthur J. White, 114 Main street, Balboa, was dismissed by Judge J. G. Mitchell in city court yesterday at the request of Police Chief Floyd Howard on the grounds of insufficient evidence.

Earl Gray, alias Alfred Hughlett, was sentenced to six months in the county jail following his plea of guilty to a charge of petty theft. Two speeders, Charles Stevens, Burbank, and Glen R. Bunkelman, Tustin, were fined by Judge Mitchell. Stevens was fined $3 and Bunkelman, $5.

Twelve parking citations of various offenders were each priced at $1 in the city court.

MRS. SOUDER'S MOTHER DIES

Following funeral services for Mrs. Dorothy Gessner, 86, yesterday, her body was returned to Fostoria, Ohio for final rites and burial. The services were held at St. Anne's parish, 111 Borchard, with Father James Meehan officiating.

Mrs. Gessner, native of Germany, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Souder, 562 South Flower street, where she had lived for the past two years. She came to California to live, six years ago.

Many Local Survivors
Mrs. Gessner who came to the United States when she was 22 years of age, was the widow of the late John Gessner, beside whom she will be interred. The body was accompanied to the eastern city by a surviving daughter, Mrs. Antoinette Marshall, of Los Angeles.

Survivors include Mrs. Souder, Santa Ana; Mrs. Marshall, Los Angeles; Mrs. W. D. Shirey, Long Beach; and Mrs. James Proctor, Huntington Beach, daughters; Mrs. Mae Schrier, Chicago, stepdaughter; Helen McAdoo, Long Beach; Don Shirey, Long Beach; Mrs. Esther Martin, Long Beach; Ruth Souder, Santa Ana; Miss Clara Souder, Long Beach; and Dorothy Mae Proctor, Huntington Beach, all grand children, and Billie and Bobby McAdoo, Long Beach, and Mary Lee Martin, Long Beach, all great grand children. Interment will be at Fostoria Saturday afternoon.

FACES ASSAULT CHARGE
On a warrant charging assault with a deadly weapon, Ramon Mejia, 26, 916 Logan street, was arrested at his home last night by Police Chief Floyd W. Howard and booked at county jail. The charge reportedly was outgrowth of a quarrel.

DEMOCRATS TO MEET, OBSERVE JACKSON DAY

Combining business and pleasure, Orange county Democrats will meet in Junior college hall at 8 p. m. tomorrow to complete reorganization of the Orange County Assembly of Democrats and to observe Jackson Day. Jackson Day is observed officially on Jan. 8, but the celebration will be held one day earlier to permit many Democrats to attend the banquet to be held, Saturday, in Los Angeles.

During the business session members of the assembly will adopt a new set of by-laws and complete reorganization of the group made necessary through the recent party "purge" when H. C. Head was elected chairman of the assembly.

Tells of "Rules"
Upon taking office Head pointed to the necessity of a completely revised set of by-laws. It was under the old set of rules, he charged that "things have been done that are a disgrace to the Democratic party if permitted to continue they will wreck the party in this county."

Following the business session of the assembly, J. F. Burke, former Santa Ana newspaper publisher now known as the "Editor of the Air" will deliver the Jackson Day address.

Head said today that all Democrats in the county, whether they are members of the assembly or not, are invited to attend this meeting.

MAKING OF MUSIC IS CLUB THEME

Music in the making, as well as the finished product, was the theme of the regular meeting of the Santa Ana Breakfast club at 7:30 a. m. today at the Main cafeteria.

James Evans gave a short talk on the making of violins and had with him unfinished pieces of a violin he now is working on, to demonstrate the various steps in the procedure.

Following the talk by Evans, the Junior College Trio, composed of Edna Walker, piano; Kenneth Akin, violin; and Jack Light-hart, cello; entertained with several musical selections.

An interesting note was introduced when it was revealed that the cello played by Lighthart was one that had been repaired by Evans after it had been run over by an automobile. Ray Taylor, of the Southern California Edison company, who was program chairman for the day while Edward Cochems presided at the meeting.

PRESENT PROGRAM FOR CLUB WOMEN

PLACENTIA, Jan. 6.—Children from the Burks School of dancing provided the program yesterday at the first meeting of 1938 of the Placentia Round Table club.

Mrs. W. D. McFarland announced that Schuyler Ladd, an actor of the New York State One Man theater, will be entertainer at the January 13 meeting.

2 BUSY 'JOGS' CUT OFF ROADS

Having recently completed a cut-off, eliminating one busy traffic "jog" in Orange county, the state highway department today was nearing completion of another, that at Tustin avenue and Seventeenth street, east of Santa Ana.

The contract for rounding off the jog between Center street and Anaheim-Olive road, at the crossing of Placentia avenue, east of Anaheim, was completed about a week ago. The Tustin avenue-Seventeenth street cut-off contract, awarded in November to C. O. Sparks and the Mundo Engineering company, Los Angeles, on a bid of $18,852.75, is not yet completed. It covers a half-mile of grading with asphalt concrete and plant-mixed surfacing.

'MACHINES' BURGLARIZED
Two youths seen loitering about, were believed to be the ones who burglarized two vending machines at the Gem theater, Garden Grove, Tuesday or yesterday, netting themselves approximately $12 in nickels.

Bar Association To Hear Address

An address on "World Affairs" by Dean Calvin Flint of Santa Ana Junior college, is scheduled for the January meeting of the Orange County Bar association, at a 12:30 luncheon tomorrow in Daniger's cafe, Santa Ana.

SIX COACHING VACANCIES TO BE FILLED SOON

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK—The nation-wide search for head football coaches to fill vacancies at six state universities had narrowed down today and final selection appeared likely within the month.

At least one school is believed to have selected its "gridiron Moses" but is withholding the announcement for a few days. Michigan and Pennsylvania appear to be having trouble because of "behind the scene" maneuvers.

A roundup of the vacant coaching jobs reveals the following leading candidates:

Oregon—Gene Shields, Oregon line coach; "Tex" Oliver, Arizona; Doug Fessenden, Montana; Ted Bank, Idaho.

Mississippi—Harry Meyer, formerly of Georgia; "Dutch" Meyer, Texas Christian.

Mississippi State—Curtis Parker, Centenary; "Spike" Nelson, Louisiana State line coach.

First school to fill its coaching vacancy was Manhattan college, which picked Herb Kopf, former Lafayette end who has assisted Lou Little at Georgetown and Columbia for several years. Kopf succeeds "Chick" Meehan, who resigned to devote his entire time to his contracting business.

Kopf, who was given a rude dismissal by Michigan after he was allowed to get up at a banquet and discuss next year's prospects, is very much in the running for two jobs—Pennsylvania and Georgia.

Coaches are confident that he will get back in the winner's circle at whatever school lands him. Harry Meyer, who resigned after nine years at Georgia, is understood to have the inside track at the U. of Mississippi, a school where the material is abundant. Meyer's resignation came as a surprise in many quarters and it has been rumored that Georgia attempted to reopen negotiations with him to reconsider his decision. He received a "good will" bonus when he left.

Two of Santa Ana's leading basketball teams, the Woolen Mills and the Jaycee Dons clash—for the mythical city championship tomorrow at 8 o'clock in Andrews gymnasium, on the high school campus.

Coach Maurice ("Red") Guyer's Laguna Beach varsity plays a preliminary game with the Dons reserves at 7.

In December the Woolen Mills and Dons battled it out on the "Y" floor with the Dons winning, 33-21.

The Dons will be favored to repeat their victory because of a weakened lineup of the Woolen Mills which will be minus several players who saw service in the first game. Doug Wheeler, crack center, has transferred his allegiance to his home town team of Fullerton.

Coach Blanchard Beatty, of the Dons, who has been playing forward for the Woolen Mills, will not play either. Tom Lacy, Harry Stanley and Len Lockhart will be in the starting lineup with Sam Lockhart filling in for Beatty.

Coach Beatty will start his regular lineup of Charles Hall and Ted DeVelbiss, forwards; Cy Levermann, center; Kenneth Marshall and Lynn Arnett, guards.

Story Without Words

Stanley Horne's Negro caddy, derby and all, gets an eyeful as the Canadian Professional Golfers Association champion completes a round of 67, three under par, in the Miami Open. The Ottawa shotmaker, a new star of the winter circuit, could not match the blistering pace of Sam Snead, Ralph Guldahl, and Horton Smith, however, as finished fourth, Snead winning his second consecutive open with a 72-hole tournament record score of 267, 13 under par.

Santa Anita's parade of stake stars—Seabiscuit, Whicheck, Time Supply—will go postward in the $5000 San Pasqual Handicap Jan. 29 at seven furlongs, it was revealed today after a check of the trainers' stake programs. It is quite likely today, judging from the work-out tab, that these three will be joined out by Pompoon, the English star, Seabiscuit, and several other "big horses" which have not yet been seen under silks this winter.

The San Pasqual will mark the first start for Seabiscuit, whose debut has been deferred twice to date. He won this engagement last year and he will try for a repeat performance—provided the track is not muddy and Racing Secretary Webb Everett does not slap more than 130 pounds on his back. As the "Biscuit" is not a sprinter, it is possible that Everett will slice off a couple of pounds and let him in with 120—two less than the weight he refused in the New Year Handicap.

Darrell Cannon, trainer for Maj. Austin C. Taylor, said today, "Whicheck is definitely pointing for the San Pasqual; he is training well and coming along nicely."

Whicheck captured the $10,000 San Francisco Handicap, closing fixture at Tanforan, thus soaring into contention for the Santa Anita Handicap.

Frank Carraud, owner of Time Supply, still wreathed in smiles because of his star's fast trip Tuesday, announced that his charge would be in the starting lineup.

Commenting on his horses, Carraud said: "Say, he was bucking and kicking the next morning after that workout. He came out of it fine and acted just like it was his first time."

Coach Beatty will start his regular lineup of Charles Hall and Ted DeVelbiss, forwards; Cy Levermann, center; Kenneth Marshall and Lynn Arnett, guards.

In vain they imitate—
Old Hawkeye is the master still,
The greatest of the great!

"When it comes to handicapping, you don't find old Hawkeye napping," chuckled the noted maestro of the turf. "Boy, I sure can pick 'em, he concluded modestly."

A check-up disclosed that this was indeed so, most communitatively so, as attested by one and all. Hawkeye fans point proudly to his long and lustrous record as leading handicapper, bar none, and to the fact that Hawkeye horses always win, and aver that yesterday was merely another of those rare exceptions which but prove the rule when his astute play, Quick Getaway, failed to score.

The astute play for today: Two cocoanuts straight on Brown Jade in sixth.

YOUNG CARTER FACES MASKED MAT MONSTER

Future plans of Promoter Sam Sampson for his 1938 junior heavyweight and light-heavyweight wrestling program, are apt to get knocked for a loop tonight when the surprise wrestler of 1937, Marshall Carter, is "fed to the lion" at the Orange County Athletic club.

The "lion" in this instance is the unknown masked person called the "Black Dragon," undefeated in four appearances here and unbeaten in California rings for more than six months.

Last week Carter was expected to be pinned by Bobby Roberts, former world light-heavyweight titleholder. Roberts had previously scored a straight-fall win over the "Black Panther," Negro star, and loomed as a 2-1 choice over the Missouriian Carter won in the biggest upset of the year.

Promoter Sampson plans a rematch between the Dragon and "Wild Red" Eery either next week or the week following, but should have his fingers crossed when Carter steps into the ring to face the "Dragon" over the three fall finish route.

Berry also stands to be beaten on tonight's four-bout program. Berry is being sent out to tame Pete Belcastro, claimant to the Pacific Coast junior heavyweight title, and Pete knows his way about. If he decides to wage a defensive match, critics claim, it would take both Perry and the Dragon all night to pin him.

Phil Romano, said to be the leading Mexican heavyweight in the game, meets Frankie Hill of Oklahoma.

Larry Tillman of Garden Grove, who made his debut in the main event two months ago against Monty LaDue, faces Al Wescott of Honolulu in a one fall opener.

"Bull" Montana will referee.

BUTTERWORTH TO COACH DONS

Coach Ernest Butterworth, the Canadian rugby man, was back in the sport spotlight at Santa Ana junior college today.

Bill Cook and other Don enthusiasts prevailed on Butterworth to coach the rugby squad again this season.

Equipment was to be issued this afternoon and the Dons will start practice immediately.

Santa Ana jaycee rugby team met yesterday afternoon in the "Y" lobby and decided definitely to play rugby this season, with the call for practice set for next Monday afternoon at the Municipal Bowl.

Equipment will be issued the prospective rugger at that time, Coach Bill Cook announced today.

Approximately 30 men signified their intention of enrolling for the English game, Cook said.

Several fairly long trips are in prospect for Don rugger so it will be an enthusiastic gang of footballers that turns out for the squad.

AL'S CAGEMEN EKE OUT THRILLING WIN

With six teams opening their second-half schedule last night, Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. leaguers wind up the first round of play in the "new season" tonight. Church of Brethren tangles with Irvin's (formerly sponsored by the Advent Christians) at 7:15 and Barr Lyman company's much improved quiet goes against Wilson's undefeated first-half champions at 8:30.

Last night's bargain bill found Al's Lock and Key Shop winning the feature game from Penhall Brothers, 33 to 32. The game was a spine-tickler from start to finish, with Emmett Seacord and Bill Kolthor pacing the winning Key-men with 14 and 13 points, respectively. Bob Hilton was high scorer of the game with 18 points. George Van Liew, six-foot-eight center from Orange, made his debut in Al's colors.

In the other two games, Tree-sweet Products bested Patterson's Dairy 26-15, and Excelsior Creamery finished in front of Southern Counties Gas company, 20-12.

DONS TO MODESTO?

Modesto junior college offers Santa Ana a three-year football contract, beginning next season.

Coach Bill Cook says it will be accepted IF his college administration approves AND suitable dates can be worked out.

Modesto suggests Oct. 13 or 14 for the 1938 game, and wants the Dons to play in Modesto. The 1939 contest, of course, would be in Santa Ana. The third presumably would be back in Modesto, in '40.

October 13 or 14 (this year) would conflict with Santa Ana's Eastern conference schedule so that is definitely out. However, Cook suggests Modesto take the Dons north any of three other dates: Sept. 23 or 30 or October 7.

Orange county's legion of racegoers will find the new Inglewood track more accessible than Santa Anita. In fact, the Hollywood Turf club's plant will be a pushover from most any point in this district—less than an hour's run.

The Northend army can drive right out Manchester boulevard and find the establishment without once getting off that highway. South-enders can go via Long Beach and encounter even fewer boulevard stops.

They tell me the Inglewood track is less than 33 miles from Santa Ana. The exact location is just outside the heart of Inglewood, and adjoins the Potrero Country club. Prairie avenue runs along the main entrance; the track lies between Manchester and Century boulevards. They have 108 acres of paved parking space.

Braven Dyer of The Times says he has it on good authority that our "Tex" Oliver can have the University of Oregon coaching position if he wants it.

"It so happens," observes Dyer, "that Oliver already has one good job with the University of Arizona. If he decides to leave the Wildcats I understand Oregon will welcome Tex with open arms. Well, they'll make no mistake if they do. Oliver not only is a smart coach, but mighty popular with his players."

Knowing Coach Oliver quite well, I imagine the Santa Ana is doing some profound thinking these days. He is intensely ambitious, and Oregon would be a step up. No question about that. Furthermore, entrance requirements at Oregon are said to be less rigid than in the California colleges. This would be a help in the rushing of good prep and jaycee graduates.

On the other hand, Oregon has been a coaches' burial ground. Competition is keen in the conference. There is said to be plenty of political interference at the state universities of Oregon. Some of Oliver's best friends think he should saw wood at Arizona until one of the more lucrative conference jobs opens up, and then shoot for it with all he has.

If he failed at Oregon he would have difficulty moving into any other Pacific Coast conference job," they contend.

Well said, but where has Tex Oliver failed? No, if he goes to Eugene, watch out for Oregon. The Yellow Green will be in the Rose Bowl inside of five years.

Have you noticed how the L. A. Examiner is getting behind the Times, sponsoring Los Angeles Open golf tournament? Why the Ex. even had the story (the tourney opens tomorrow) on its second Sport page today.

Better put a red circle round the date of Jan 18 on your calendar of things-to-see this month. That's the night (Wednesday) that Santa Ana jaycee plays the New York Glousters in basketball.

The Glousters are Negroes, and the best there is in their line, which is comedy. That they are good players, too, is indicated by their record of winning 105 games and losing 3 in the past two years.

Against San Bernardino the other night, the Glousters tried everything. They bounced in baskets off the floor, tried drop-kicks, played "football" and "indoor baseball." When one of the players gets tired he simply sits on the floor and lets his teammates carry on.

BARRETT QUILTS DON BASKETBALL SQUAD

Charles (Chuck) Barrett, crack Don letterman forward from Texas, checked in his basketball uniform today and was said to have made his decision, because of outside employment, which occupied much of his spare time.

Barrett said he couldn't do justice to both his job and basketball.

Barrett was probably the best shot on the Don team and his loss definitely weakens the Don squad. Coach Blanchard Beatty has, however, a promising substitute in Ted DeVelbiss, Anaheim freshman, who at the time of Barrett's decision was giving Barrett battle for the starting position anyway.

FIRST LEAGUE TUSSLE FINDS S. A. UNDERDOG

Hopeful that a new broom sweeps clean as it did in football, Santa Ana high school's basketball squad embarks on its first season in the Citrus Belt league tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. Sophomore teams raise the curtain at 2:15.

The Saints draw a home game for their inaugural meeting, a conference "handicappers" pick to win the championship. The Ontario Tigers, coached by Karl Kaiser, won the La Verne college tournament and reached the finals of the Huntington Beach invitational last month.

Coach Joe Koegler has no false illusions about the prospects of Santa Ana's freshmen, yet believes they will improve as the schedule progresses and might finish with a .500 percentage. Inexperience, lack of height and a late start militate against Santa chances. The team won only three of its nine warm-up games. The Saints dropped two to Whittier and one to Tustin and Orange, but beat Garden Grove once and split with Excelsior and Covina.

Koegler Picks Lineup
Santa Ana's lineup will be Pete Partida and Gene O'Campo, forwards; Melvin Barron, center, and Dick Brown and Maurice Young, guards. Partida, 5'7 and O'Campo, 5'9, are smaller than the average cagers but are good ball-handlers. Barron, 6'1, has a sore shoulder but will start. These three made letters as reserves in '37. Brown, a six-footer, is a transfer from San Dimas. Young, 5'8, comes up from Class B.

Koegler's reserves are James McCain, Dick O'Neil and Bob Frías. Forwards: Milton Smith and Milton Mitchell, centers; Bill Musick, Marvin Webb and Les Baker, guards. Smith and Musick are lettermen, but since both graduate in February, Koegler has been giving holdover players the preference.

Chaffey brings here four members of the strong five of 1937. In practice sessions, the Tigers bowled over such good teams as Long Beach, Montebello, Pasadena, Huntington Beach, Pomona college, Colton, Bonita and Chino.

Regulars are Bob Tucker and Harry Polindexter, forwards; Rahe Hargrave, center, and Vane Olinger, guard. Latimer, Johnson, Cardin, Hofer, Roebin and Johns complete the squad.

Pomona (which tied Chaffey for the title last season and represented the C.B.L. in the playoffs, losing to Tustin in the first round) is rated close to the favored Tigers. Coach Stan Acres boasts six lettermen: Ken Casey and Joe Bresnahan, forwards; Bill Anderson, center; Luis Duran, "Red" Hill and Earl Thomas, guards. Thomas and Casey graduate next month and haven't been used much in preliminary contests.

Riverside has the most impressive pre-league records. Clarence Sheffer is handling the Bears, who are undefeated after 11 games with such schools as Banning, Bonita, Colton, San Juan Capistrano, Perris and Corona. Riverside is the "dark horse."

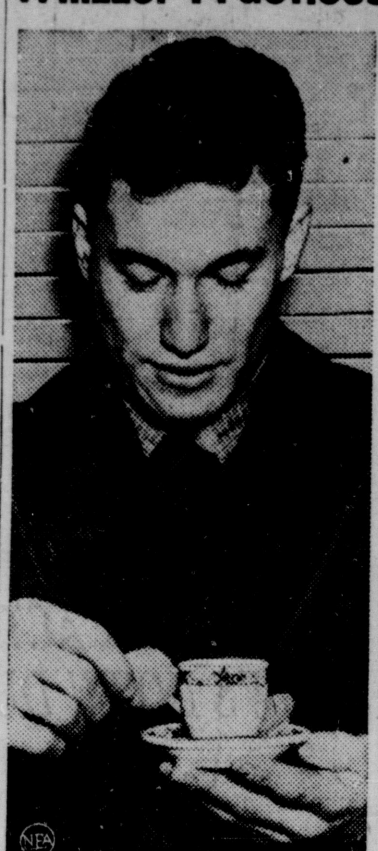

San Bernardino, tutored by Ralph Simpson, lost all his regulars last season and the club hardly figures in the first division. Four seniors appear certain starters. They are Alva Burgess, Clarence Burton, Bert Bangle and Paul Taylor. Glass and Hyndinger battle for the fifth post.

Coach Bill Maxwell of Redlands opens fire with five veterans, none of whom are playing regularly. Maxwell has been giving the call to four ex-soph—Gonzales, Brukchart, Moore and Kohler—and one senior, Guard Jim Gray.

The schedule:
First Round
Jan. 7—San Bernardino at Redlands, Pomona at Riverside, Chaffey at Santa Ana.
Jan. 11—Riverside at Chaffey, Pomona at San Bernardino, Santa Ana at Redlands.
Jan. 14—San Bernardino at Chaffey, Redlands at Pomona, Riverside at Santa Ana.
Jan. 21—San Bernardino at Riverside, Redlands at Chaffey, Santa Ana at Pomona.
Jan. 28—Chaffey at Pomona, Riverside at Redlands, Santa Ana at San Bernardino.

Second Round
Feb. 4—Redlands at San Bernardino, Riverside at Pomona, Santa Ana at Chaffey.
Feb. 11—Chaffey at Riverside, San Bernardino at Pomona, Redlands at Santa Ana.
Feb. 18—Chaffey at San Bernardino, Pomona at Redlands, Santa Ana at Riverside.
Feb. 25—Chaffey at Redlands, Riverside at San Bernardino, Pomona at Santa Ana.
March 4—Pomona at Chaffey, Redlands at Riverside, San Bernardino at Santa Ana.

Whizzer Practices

Byron (Whizzer) White tries the trick of balancing a tea cup and fingering a wafer, as he will have to do when he arrives in England to attend Oxford as a Rhodes scholar.

FORT WORTH—Byron (Whizzer) White, Colorado's All-America quarterback who also is an All-America student, takes his athletics and scholarship in straight doses. He doesn't mix them.

In other words, the 190-pound triple-threat who closed his career against Rice in the Cotton Bowl game New Year's day, concentrates on football when that's the subject at hand, and on the text books when the classroom bell rings.

Right now he'd rather not mention his Rhodes Scholarship, which will take him to Oxford for three years of study.

"You know," he claims, "if I weren't a football player, my winning a Rhodes Scholarship wouldn't rate more than a paragraph in the papers."

Athletics at Oxford? Yes, he'd probably take a fling at rugby, or perhaps at cricket and rowing. He thinks he'd like the way athletics are handled in England. Not so commercialized as in America.

But one thing will come first—his study of civil law. That's the big thing in mind.

DIMAGGIO DENIES SIGNING SECRETLY

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Rising from a late morning sleep, Joe DiMaggio, New York Yankee slugger, denied today he had been secretly signed by the Yankees for the 1938 season at $25,000 as reported in New York.

Snead is liked above Horton Smith, Johnny Revolta, Henry Picard, Byron Nelson, and Jimmy Hines—men he hardly knew.

SAMMY SNEAD 'BIG MENAGE' OF PRO FIELD

LOS ANGELES—(UP)—Harry Cooper was a heavy favorite today in a field of 250 amateurs and professionals here for the $5000 Los Angeles Open tournament, which opens the winter golf swing tomorrow at Griffith park.

Cooper, winner of the 1926 and 1937 opens, was expected to encounter stiff competition from Sam Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.; Horton Smith, the Missouri ghost; Henry Picard, Hershey, Pa.; and Johnny Revolta, New York. John Dawson, Bruce McCormick and Pat Abbott were considered likely contenders in the amateur field.

BY HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

LOS ANGELES—A year ago today one Sam Snead was looked upon by the golfing fraternity as little more than a hill-billy freak. It was generally believed that Samuel and his tremendous drives wouldn't last and that he soon would go rolling back into the fastnesses of his West Virginia hills with more speed than he showed in rolling out of them.

Today, on the eve of the Los Angeles Open tournament, one of the most important fixtures of the annual swing, Sam Snead is looked upon with awe by the greatest players of the game, and many of them concede him more than an even chance of becoming the greatest golfer who ever lived.

Up From Nowhere
No player in history, not even Jones or Hagen or Sarazen, ever increased in stature in a twelve-month more than Snead, the one-time rural soda jerker. In one year he came from the environs of nowhere to a place as golf's most arresting figure. The answer is unbelievable power and unbelievable control of the same. From tournament to tournament, he marched, getting home with a drive and five iron on holes that nearly all of his rivals had to play two woods. Sam wasn't the first of the super hitters, but he was the first super-hitter who could place his Big Bertha shots where he wanted them.

The great progress he has made in a year is reflected in the betting odds for the Los Angeles Open that starts tomorrow over the Griffith Park course. The bookmaking gentry has installed Sam and Harry Cooper as favorites, and when you get coupled with Cooper you are coupled with the most consistent shotmaker and scorer of them all.

spots. (KFI, 6)

MONOLOGIA

JEANETTE MacDonald, who returns to Open House Sunday, January 9, (KNX, 4 p. m.)

"There is no quick way to train for radio in the sense of a short cut to fame. Radio, like everything else, makes demands upon aspirants to success on the air. To be prepared is the quickest way after all, and who can say how long such preparation takes. If one is going to speak or sing or play or act or entertain, one should make sure he is expert if he would excel.

"As for overcoming my fright—I think the answer is the same as one gives to a person suffering from stage fright. Both are the result of self-consciousness. The consciousness is provoked by the fear of making an error before a large audience. The greatest cure is to be so prepared, so nearly perfect that self-confidence can slay self-consciousness, and forget the vastness of the audience. Play the music as though that great audience were just one understanding friend."

One of America's Best

Lucille LaVerne, who has starred for many years in "Sun Up," stage story of backwoodsmen of the Carolinas, is pictured above, as she, completely bewildered, watches her son leave for action in the World War, a war she does not understand, knows nothing of. She is acclaimed as one of America's greatest actresses. The stage program will be presented tonight at Ebell clubhouse.

MISS LA VERNE ARRIVES TODAY

Lucille LaVerne, acclaimed by dramatic critics for many years as one of the country's greatest actresses, arrives today to play the starring role in her famous stage presentation, "Sun Up," story of the relentless mountain woman whose son was called to a war the "hill folk" could not understand.

By virtue of its strong dramatic appeal, "Sun Up," is being brought to Santa Ana for presentation at the Ebell club tonight at 8:15.

Miss LaVerne is responsible for the international success of the play, while Lulu LaVerne, author, is unwavering in her faithfulness to type psychology, and her play, in perspective, is a brilliant piece of dramatic craftsmanship.

"Relentless Woman" Miss LaVerne's powerful portrayal of the relentless mountain woman and her genius for penetrating characterization makes the play a masterpiece. It is considered one of the dozen greatest stage plays in the opinion of most critics.

As a foremost exponent of native American art, Miss LaVerne delights in starkness, the grimness of her role. She makes the "Widow Cagle," a dominant, vital person who has captivated not only America but England, France and other countries with her realism.

Tickets may be purchased at the Santa Ana Book store (Brown's), 208 West Fourth street. The play is sponsored by the Ebell club.

Julia Lathrop

1938 has started out with bang at the Lathrop branch library with a total of 608 books circulated the first day! This is an all time record for one day's circulation at this library.

This is Magazine week at Lathrop Library. "On one of the display tables, Miss Calkins has arranged a group of old magazines, most of which date as far back as 1870. Another interesting feature this week in Lathrop library is a group of kodak pictures of Lois Lenski and her little boy and their home. Lois Lenski is the author and illustrator of "Phebe Fairchild" and "A Going to the Westward."

During the holidays the Lathrop house committee accomplished a wonderful piece of work in "dressing up" the rotunda and teachers' lounge. Beautiful new drapes and lovely potted plants have been artistically placed in the rotunda where everyone can enjoy them. The thanks for this splendid work of art goes to members of the house committee: Miss Pearl Nicholson, Miss Edith Cornell, Mrs. Marguerite Hill and Mrs. Louise Sanborn.

The hobby class, an elective to ninth graders under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Archer, has made great progress this term in many fields of interest and activity.

Two periods a week are given over to carefully and accurately prepared reports before the class. Some of the interests which have been especially valuable are story writing, original poems, models, scrapbooks, collections, fancy work, painting, cartooning and hooked rugs.

The ninth grade social studies class under the direction of Miss Leila Thrasher is making a study of current magazines, classifying the magazines as to professional, occupational and home magazines. All kinds of popular magazines have been brought to class, ranging from five cents a copy to some

Hair Clinic To Open Here Today

Today you will see the formal opening of the X-ER-VAC Hair Clinic in Santa Ana.

"This clinic features the new scientific cure for the relief of baldness and falling hair using the X-ER-VAC machine produced by the Crosley Radio Corporation," the manager said.

"This great new invention is based upon the accepted scientific fact that vacuum and pressure will stimulate circulation of the secondary blood stream of the scalp which directly feeds the hair follicles.

The office, which is locally owned and managed, is located at 204 Spurgeon Building.

Jimmie
Fidler
...in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, January 6 — Settin' Around (RKO-Radio Pictures): Today, on this lot, I encountered the perfect example of "modern," high-speed production methods. "Radio City Revels," another of those multi-star, super-colossal filmicals, is in production on, not one, but four stages. One unit, headed by Director Ben Stollor, is filming the dialogue scenes. Another unit, with Director Joseph Santley, is shooting the singing scenes. A third is concentrating on the big chorus numbers and the fourth, working without a camera, is handling all rehearsals. The net result, of course, is a great saving of time and money. But I wonder whether such "efficiency" schemes are true economy in the long run, for it seems to me inevitable that the brot turned out by so many cooks, must be in danger of being spoiled.

It is a far cry from the old days when pictures were usually one-man products. A far cry, to cite the extreme example, from those great Chaplin classics that drew millions of dollars from millions of delighted theatergoers. Chaplin wrote his own stories, directed, and starred in the picture. And his finished films always had the sincerity and feeling that can only be achieved in creations which are the product of a single mind.

"Radio City Revels" may be the greatest filmical ever produced—but if it is, it will be a miracle in my humble opinion. I have never been able to understand why producers who want their product to be hailed as "art," should resort to factory methods.

Stopped in on the set where Irene Dunne and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., are co-starring in "Joy of Living" in time to join an unusual luncheon party. Director Tay Garnet had spent the greater part of the morning trying to shoot a scene in which the five year old Steiner twins were supposed to devour huge bowls of cereal. The little ladies, not being in the proper mood, had refused to show the proper gusto and Irene Dunne, whose adopted daughter qualifies her as an experienced mother, finally saved the day with a common-sense suggestion. "Let's shoot something else until noon," said she, "and then we will need to the commissary and have our lunches brought to the set. I invite everyone to be my guests—and you can photograph the party." The idea worked beautifully. The Misses Steiner gulped down their cereal, the cameraman made take after take—and the scene will go

Van-Tage Helps Clear
Out Gassy Bloating

"I had awful attacks of stomach gas and had to loosen my clothing to ease the painful bloating. It felt like my food turned into a hard, rocky mass. Had back pains and my sleep was broken by sluggish kidneys. I was a slave to strong physics and had headaches and dizzy spells. Van-Tage cleared away loads of gas, relieving the bloating spells. My meals digest better than in years. I flushed my kidneys and relieved the back pains and I can sleep at night, and my bowels are more regular and the spells of dizziness and headache are relieved. Van-Tage is wonderful."

VAN-TAGE contains over 30 ingredients, including 21 Great Natural Herbs. It acts as a carminative, laxative, cholagogue and diuretic. So don't hesitate. ## COUNTY SCOUTS GAIN SEVEN TROOPS

529 BOYS JOIN
MOVEMENT AND SET NEW MARK

Growth of the Boy Scout movement in Orange county during 1937 was revealed today in the annual report of Executive Harrison White and submitted to the County Scout Council.

During the past year, according to the report, seven new troops have been formed in the county bringing an additional 529 boys in to the organization. At present there are 1,608 boys in the organization. This number is divided as follows: 1221 Boy Scouts, 116 Sea Scouts and 271 Cub Scouts.

New troops were formed in Santa Ana, Laguna Beach, Newport Beach, Anaheim, Tustin, Garden Grove and Fullerton. The new Santa Ana troop is sponsored by the police department and is considered one of the most active in the city.

The Sea Scout division, for older boys interested in scouting, has shown a substantial growth, according to White's report. This increasing growth of the aquatic division, the report declared is "particularly due to the splendid facilities of Newport Harbor and the cooperation of the Sea Scout committee in establishing the Sea Scout Rendezvous and providing a piece of property of Newport Bay for the use of all Sea Scouts."

The report also paid tribute to Capt. Fred E. Lewis, declaring that he "rendered a great service to the Council by taking 28 boys as crew members on board the M. S. 'Stranger' to the South Seas, 22 others to South America and an additional 34 to Alaska."

A systematic program of talks and demonstrations of Scout activities before luncheon club and other organizations is urged as one of the objectives for the coming year as is the enlistment of more men with nautical training to head the Sea Scout movement in the county.

The report said 3502 Scouts and other groups attended Irvine camp in 1937. Of this number the greatest gathering was the 12th Region Camporee when 1835 boys spent three days at the camp. Need for a new swimming pool at Camp RokiLi, in the San Bernardino mountains also was pointed out.

Referring to Camp RokiLi, White's report revealed that during the summer more than 500 boys attended encampments at that resort and that not one accident or case of sickness occurred during the entire summer period.

Killed Baby on "Ghost's Orders"

Because the "ghost" of his father, dead six years, commanded it, Henry Nead, 19, shown above with his 15-year-old wife, Luella, beat his six-weeks-old foster son to death in Vesper, Wisconsin. Nead's child-wife and mother of the infant, told authorities they both had seen the ghost frequently. Nead's "confession" repudiated an earlier story that the baby died in a fall.

ORANGE COUNTY PUBLIC EAGER TO HEAR PASADENA BOYS SING

Remember the thrill of delight experienced a few weeks ago when the Vienna Choir Boys sang in Santa Ana high school auditorium for two concerts?

A similar organization which is purely Southern California will come to Orange county Friday. This is the Pasadena Boys' choir, directed by Dr. Henry Lyons.

Dr. Lyons has built up a remarkable singing group of some 80 lads from the schoolboys of his city, and is bringing the organization down to show Orange county school children what may be accomplished. It was through the fourth district federation of Parents and Teachers, that the engagement was made, and Mrs. H. C. Brown, 1416 West Washington avenue, president of the district has been active in promoting the concert.

Co-operating with her has been Mrs. Mabel Seeds Spizy, music supervisor in the county schools, and chairman of music in the district association.

The boys will give their first concert in Fullerton junior college auditorium at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon for school children of the north Orange county section. They will come immediately to Santa Ana where they are scheduled for a program in the high school auditorium at 3:30 o'clock. This too will be for the community's youth, for in the evening at 7:30 o'clock, the choir will give its third and final concert of the day, for an adult audience including senior high school and junior college students.

The county P. T. A. will entertain the lads at dinner in the high school cafeteria, in the interval between afternoon and evening engagements.

One reason for bringing the Boys' choir to this county, aside from the very real pleasure involved in hearing the programs, is to show the boys of the community that it is a wonderful thing to be able to produce such real music.

However, Dr. Lyons has succeeded in overcoming the fear of boys that singing would be considered a "sissy" form of education. That he has succeeded in overcoming this, is proven by the success of the choir, which has been in existence now for the past 12 years.

Since there will be separate concerts, it is not feared the host association will meet problems which Musical Arts club faced when the Vienna Choir Boys sang

PREDICTS CITY TO BACK CIVIL SERVICE MOVE

Definitely, all departments of the city soon will be placed under civil service regulation.

That was the statement issued by one city councilman today following several informal discussions by city councilmen who will look with favor upon civil service for all departments because the people voted civil service regulation for police and firemen. The council will take the attitude that, since the people have spoken, it will not hesitate to allow all departments civil service regulation.

Petitions Already Examined
Action to place other departments than the police and fire departments under civil service will be taken by council, which has authority to take such action without submitting the proposal to the voters further, as soon as the newly appointed civil service board adopts necessary rules and establishes the system for giving examinations to those applying for jobs.

A petition bearing several scores of city employees outside of the police and fire departments and asking that civil service be adopted for all departments now is being considered by the council.

While some councilmen may be opposed to the principle of civil service, at least a majority definitely have agreed to vote for civil service for all departments.

Navy's Big Guns
Rattle Windows,
Mimic Temblor

No, that was not an earthquake that shook houses and caused windows to rattle yesterday. The disturbance was caused by big guns from battleships of the United States fleet engaged in target practice several miles off shore in the Pacific ocean.

Early in the afternoon, the guns started firing and reached their peak shortly after 4 p. m. when the heavier guns went into action. Windows rattled and houses shook but not because of an earthquake.

'HONEST WEIGHT' IS RULE IN COUNTY STORE, REPORT SHOWS

Honesty is still not only the best policy but the common policy among Orange county dealers in goods and merchandise, and the customer gets a square deal 92 per cent of the time, the best of the deal three per cent of the time, and is worsted by short weights only five per cent of the time.

C. OF C. OPENS
BUSINESS MOVE

Members of the "What Helps Business" committee of the chamber of commerce are meeting this afternoon in the chamber of commerce office to plan a campaign for restoration of public confidence in business.

Formation of the committee with Rodney Bacon as chairman is a part of a movement suggested several weeks ago at a luncheon meeting of chamber of commerce members. The movement is being sponsored by the United States Chamber of Commerce.

According to Howard I. Wood, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, the majority of chambers in Southern California are forming similar committees for the purpose of conducting advertising and publicity programs stressing the fact that "business is not a straw man" but is made up of local merchants and professional men and that these men have the best interests of the community and its residents at heart at all times.

91ST VETERANS
INSTALLS GETTY

Wilbur Getty, Santa Ana business man and prominent in veterans' affairs of the city was elected first vice president of the Ninety-first Division Association last night at the annual meeting of that organization in Patriotic hall, Los Angeles.

Other officers elected at the same time were: V. A. Kemmerer, president; Harry J. Worthington, second vice president; S. L. Engelman, treasurer; John B. Bowers, sergeant-at-arms; George Arthurs, historian and Carl De Mott, chaplain.

Following the installation of the newly elected officers the more than 250 members of the "Powder River" division who attended the meeting started plans for their first national convention to be held in Los Angeles at the same time the American Legion holds its national convention.

a discussion on "Obedience and Discipline," led by Mrs. Nell Hunt, in which various members will join.

This was shown today by the annual report of the county weights and measures department, under direction of Agricultural Commissioner D. W. Tubbs.

Honesty Gets Tribute
"A fine commentary on the honesty of our people is shown by the fact that of 16,043 checks made of weights of packaged goods and containers, 14,771 were found to weigh exactly the amount claimed, 508 were found to contain excess weight, and 764 short weight," said Tubbs' report.

A total of 166 weighing and measuring devices were condemned and confiscated during the year, including three counter scales, 23 spring scales, five computing scales, 13 platform scales, one scale for trucks, wagons, etc., five miscellaneous scales, 33 weights, 16 liquid measures and seven measuring pumps. A total of 251 scales were corrected, 15,552 were sealed and 391 were found out of order.

$325 License Fees
In addition, several measuring pumps were abandoned, oil barrels calibrated, fertilizer trucks measured, 90 corrections made on packages where net contents were not noted, 126 labels corrected, 62 sign corrections made, and numerous tank trucks and truck meters sealed.

The department, said the report, also cooperated with the state in collecting $325 as delinquent pump license fees, and in the enforcement of other portions of the gasoline and oil substitution act.

Exchangeites Set

1 teaspoon salt

1-4 teaspoon pepper and paprika
A dusting of cayenne.
Scald the piece of fish 10 minutes, drain, hold under cold water for a moment, then remove the skin. Place in the baking dish and pour the rarebit sauce around it. In making the sauce blend flour and butter over hot water, add milk and stir until slightly thick and very hot, then add the grated cheese, mixed with mustard, etc. When the cheese melts, take the egg beater and give the sauce a vigorous beating to make it very smooth. Pour over the fish and bake in a medium slow oven (325 degrees) until the fish will flake apart when tested with a fork. The dish is baked in shorter time if filets are used.

This recipe serves six.

This recipe for crab is one you can use at any meal but breakfast. It is practically made to order for Sunday supper... better save the recipe.

THE OVERTIME WORKER

"Please ask the teacher not to give Harold so much homework. It took him three hours to get it done last night, and that is the usual thing. He never gets done under two hours, mostly three. He is in school every day for five hours, and it does seem to me that the teacher ought to get along without three hours homework for a nine-year-old boy in the third grade."

That sounded pretty bad. Three hours homework for a child in the third grade.

"What lessons does he do in the three hours?"

"He has five new words, and five examples."

"What kind of words?"

"Ordinary words, like house, mouse, fair, chair, dinner. That was his list last night. They are his reading words."

"I see. And are the examples big, hard ones, problems?"

"He says they are hard. Multiply three hundred thirty-three by seven. Multiply forty-four by seven. Like that."

"Was that all he had to do?"

"Just those two lessons. And review four lines of poetry. He didn't have time to do the poetry. I had him say it this morning when he was getting ready for school."

"Did he know it?"

"No. That's just the point. He isn't learning a thing and she keeps piling on homework. I do my best, but I can't see any improvement. When a child works three hours on a homework lesson it is too much. It makes the child disgusted."

"What would you say if I were to tell you that every child in the class does his homework in half an hour and gets a good mark next day? That would be about right. Any school child in normal health, mental and physical good health, can do that lesson inside the half-hour. The work the teacher assigned could easily have been done in half an hour. If the child had been able to do his work he would have done it and well within the time."

"What is to be done? Take the child to the family physician first thing. Have him thoroughly examined for physical defects. Skip nothing because any defect, however slight it seems, is important to the growth and development of any child. Then have him examined by a reputable psychologist. Next, and most important of all, get the experienced teacher's word upon the child."

I say that the teacher's word is most important because it is she who lives with the boy day after day, hour by hour, lesson by lesson. She is trained to see and understand the workings of a child's mind. She will know what no other professional expert can know without long study. Add her work to what the physicians say and try to help the child by following a program they advise. A good teacher is a pupil's best, most understanding friend.

GARDEN AND HOME

Through the Garden Gate

WITH MARAH ADAMS

Coming down the ages from a time very remote indeed, has been the Persian influence in planning gardens and weaving rugs.... strangely enough the rugs are an outcome of the gardens.... carrying in the fabric designs made from flowers.... and woven in almost imperishable beauty....

It was a great Persian ruler who first conceived the idea of weaving rugs as they are now known.... This ruler loved the blossoms in his gardens.... when summer was over and winter rains came.... he wanted to bring the flowers into his palace. So he ordered weavers to make floor coverings.... weaving in them flower designs.

These facts were learned by women attending a session of the Orange Women's club this week when one of the speakers who had been a weaver of rugs from the time he was a little boy of six until he was grown, opened the eyes of his listeners to the meaning of rug patterns. The weaver's name is Leon Giridlian and he lives in Pasadena.

He had lived in Asia Minor until he was 21 years old. All about him were snow-capped mountains and flower-filled valleys—but they were not for little boys who had attained the mature age of six to think about. For them were the looms and the endless task of weaving, beginning as soon as the sun flooded the town of Caesarea with light until the great orb sunk behind the mountains.

The greater number of the children whose little fingers flew black and forth across the looms were given their lunches of dry bread which they ate as they wove. The children of the Giridlian family were more fortunate. Their mother had attended a Congregational Mission school. She had learned the value of a rest period at noon. Her children played for an hour but they had no other playmates. So many mothers had not attended the mission school.

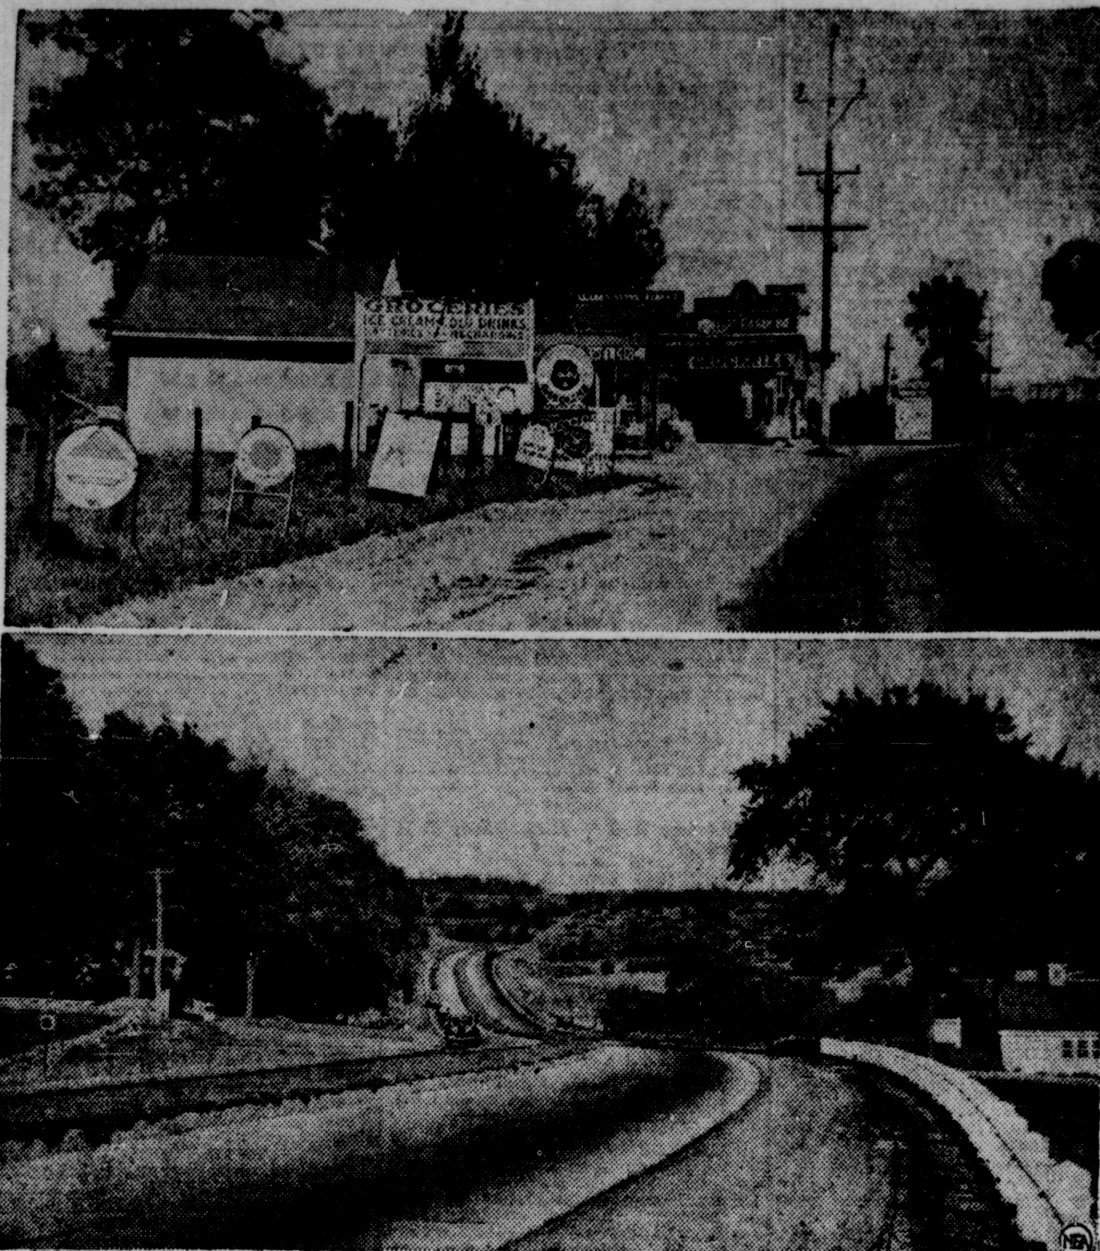

Each day the children of the town, noted for its rugs, went on with their weaving, bringing flowers from the gardens to life in the fabric they made. Giridlian told of an old saying which he had often heard as a child. It ran like this: "If you would be happy for one day—drink hard liquor. If you would be happy three days—get married. If you would be happy a week—kill a pig. If you would be happy all your life—become a gardener."

Sometimes the little weavers were set to work weaving rugs which required 900 knots to the square inch! About 400 years ago a little girl began a task of this sort and at the end of her life she had copied over and over again a floral pattern varying it sometimes to the eye of an expert. When she was very old she had finished a rug but a few feet long and a few feet wide.

Giridlian, no longer a weaver, has acquired this particular rug. Its colors are beautifully softened and blended by time. A flower garden which will bring pleasure to its possessors for hundreds of years to come.... the patient weaver who tied the tiny knots of fine wool with silken warp.... has long been forgotten....

From Persian gardens of long

Contrast Is Seen In These Two Roadside Views

The National Roadside Council is interested in pre-servicing and restoring natural beauty to the countryside. The roadside committee of the American Automobile association also is working for the safety and beauty of rural roads. Above is shown a country road cluttered with signs of many shapes and sizes. Below is seen a highway landscaped and fitted to natural contours, revealing rather than marring the scene.

ago to backyard gardens of the present is along step through time and space.... there is never a glimpse of a resplendent chariot through the shrubbery and trees of the gardens of today.... but you will find the pale green spears of the fresas well above ground.... last year's plants putting forth a luxuriant growth of leaves and a few blossoms.... With longer days and bright skies the vision of backyard gardens, neglected and shaggy, come between many an officer worker and the keys of a typewriter....

Sunny skies are very nice but how welcome the steady downpour of a good January rain would be.... water is such an essential part of gardening.... one of the men who has a great deal to do with providing water for Orange county ranches and gardens, is himself fond of gardening....

He is O. E. Mansur who has acted as secretary of the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company for many years. Mr. Mansur lives at 1129 East Washington avenue and at present he is impatiently waiting for the ranunculus bulbs Mrs. Mansur set out, to finish blooming. The plants are growing in the spot Mr. Mansur reserves each year for a pany bed. In the center is a great white rose bush making a lovely arrangement.

Other gardeners who are connected with the irrigation company are Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ralph who grow beautiful roses and dahlias

....Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gullede who are building a lath house and whose garden always is in bloom. ....Mrs. C. S. Ralph who likes to grow potted plants.... the Puri Shells who are fond of flowering shrubs....

Lucy Avas Marshall, who lives on South Garney street, turned from high school teaching to housekeeping and gardening some years ago. Mrs. Marshall has had numerous verses published, many of which concern gardening. She has written one she calls "Roadside Flowers". It is as follows:

"Life's highway has been paved, and so is bare
Of roadside flowers—white buds
Of kindly grasses,
Asters of hope—but in the broken
places
Red salvias of courage are flaming everywhere."

PLANS CONSIDERED
R. R. Denbigh, regional supervisor for the Bureau of Agricultural Education, recently conferred with Visalia school board authorities regarding plans for a proposed modern agricultural building for Visalia Union High school. Twenty-five thousand dollars has been budgeted for the structure, according to City Superintendent of Schools DeWitt Montgomery.

DAHLIA ADVICE
BY A. E. ZAPF

Advice on dahlia culture by Alfred E. Zapf, well known throughout Southern California for the splendor of his dahlia garden and the number of varieties of dahlias he has developed, will be eagerly read by interested gardeners. Mr. Zapf, who lives on a beautifully located ranch at 726 West Walnut avenue, Orange, is recognized as an authority on the subject.

Directions on growing dahlias is given by Mr. Zapf as follows: "Cut off the stems as they dry in the autumn. Cut close to ground and cover with dirt so water will not collect in the hollow stems and rot root. Leave green stems as long as they remain green. They help to mature the tubers."

Dig in March
"Tubers keep better in ground than out. If ground drains well do not dig tubers until middle of March. If any shoots show above ground, that makes no difference. They will help locate the eyes, and if broken off will come again. If ground is heavy and does not drain well, lift the tubers after first heavy rain. Clean thoroughly with a hose, let them dry and store in saw dust or shavings and store in a cool, dark, dry place, and moisten occasionally."

"Tubers lifted in March should be stored in a similar way. Best results are obtained by planting about middle of May. The dahlia is an autumn flower and ground is warmer in May. Takes about two months from planting to full flower."

How To Plant
"Plant about three feet apart. Drive a stage six feet long to show about five feet above ground. Then dig your hole six inches deep in light ground and four inches in heavy. Lay tuber flat with eye about two inches from stake. Fill hole with good surface ground mixed with peat moss. Make a basin and water thoroughly. Water sparingly until plant is well above ground. When buds form water liberally. Furrows are better than sprinkling."

"When plant shows two well-formed pairs of leaves, pinch out the center stem to make it branch. When buds form pinch off the two side ones leaving only the center. Also pinch out the new branches which form at the axils of the leaves, as far back as you want the plant to be when you cut flower. This saves the strength for the flower. Sometimes additional stems come up from the tuber. Pull these up. This throws all the strength into one stalk, and makes a more vigorous plant."

To Fertilize
"Do not work the ground after flowers form. Make furrows and mulch heavily with alfalfa or bean straw. A fertilizer heavy in potassium applied when plants are above ground helps to strengthen the stems to hold the flowers better. A ring of bone meal around the plant when buds first show is good. Should be covered lightly."

"In the autumn after stalks have died, cover bed with a heavy layer of well-rotted barn manure. Work in lightly being careful not to disturb tubers. After taking up tubers in spring manure again, but lightly, and add peat moss, and dig in just as deeply as possible. This should be done at least a month before planting. When ready to plant give it a light spraying."

Buy the Best
"Buy the best tubers you can afford. Everything but cost of tuber is the same whether you grow a fine flower or a commonplace one and the satisfaction is infinitely greater."

Choice varieties:
Lord of Autumn. One of finest. Rich lemon yellow. Wonderful size and color. Informal decorative.

Monmouth Champion. Beautiful scarlet. Formal decorative.

Robert Emmett. Rich red. Informal decorative.

Satan. Very large. Scarlet. Semi-cactus.

King of Blacks. Very dark rich red.

Jane Cowl. Buff and gold. Informal decorative.

Mariposa. Beautiful bluish pink.

SCHOOL GARDEN IS IN SEVENTH YEAR

Yellow narcissus are blooming in the Roosevelt school gardens and several gladiolus blooms are ready to their appearance. The garden is located between Orange avenue and Maple street and the school faces on East First street.

The garden project has been carried out for seven years. Miss Pearl Camblin, sixth grade teacher is in its guiding genius. It certainly requires genius to instill such a love for a garden in several hundred small boys and girls of a school, that each one appoints him or herself a special guardian over the growing things.

The larger school garden is in the curbing and is 257 feet long and 10 and a half feet wide. It is divided into six sections with from three to five children in charge of each section. The smaller garden is west of the school building and is 36 by 29 feet. It is shared by the sixth grade pupils with kindergarten pupils. Bulbs and plants are donated by teachers and friends.

Bulbs are dug, cleaned, sorted and replanted as soon as possible after school starts in September. The work is done by the children. Bulbs planted are fresas, ixia, Spanish iris, narcissus (several varieties), a few jonquils and Watsonia. After the first rains snappers and stock plants are

CHAPTER I

A LONG the ocean drive at Palm Beach, America's winter playground for the great and near-great, the line of automobiles stretched for nearly a mile approaching the Tudor-styled castle of Constance Corby, the richest girl in the world.

A corps of special patrolmen was on guard, besides the traditional men in livery and a dozen private detectives. A flock of newspaper men and photographers was gathered outside the tall wrought-iron gates. The formal gardens and velvety terraces were flooded in softly tinted light; an enormous marquee especially built for dancing, overlooked the silvery-edged surf beating against white sands shimmering in moonlight of rivaling splendor. Rare lilies and orchids, brought by plane, filled the spacious rooms from baseboard to ceiling. Three orchestras had been engaged. Forty caterers occupied the mammoth kitchens preparing a feast fit for a bacchanalian king. The supply of champagne was unlimited. For tonight the formal announcement of the betrothal of "The Million Dollar Princess" was to be given out to the world.

Outside the richly appointed bathroom, with its sunken marble tub and gold-plated fixtures, three persons hovered anxiously, listening for every word and sound from within.

"You really should be getting dressed, Miss Connie," Gibbs, the personal maid, English, angular, sardonic, warned.

"Indeed you should!" Mrs. Perry, the head housekeeper, fat, florid and forty, urged with supplication bordering on tears.

"You should indeed," Uncle Tippy added his bit. "That is if you intend to appear at your own party, my dear." Uncle Tippy was Connie's favorite guardian. He never allowed anything to upset him too much; not even his niece's whims, which were, at times, to say the least, likely to be upsetting.

THERE was silence for a minute while the three waited as though holding one long suspended breath. Then: "But I'm not so sure I want to appear," a low, throaty voice murmured from the other side of the door, which was locked.

"But you can't do that!" Mrs. Perry threw up plump arms in horror. "Remember Rodney is waiting, too. Your fiancé. Such a splendid young man!"

"What I should have done long ago," Uncle Tippy sighed, "was to have given you a good sound spanking. Hope Brandon will have sense enough, when he takes you off my hands."

"If Rodney ever beats me, I shall leave him," the cool, lovely voice stated with emphasis.

"Talking about divorce before the banns are even spoken! 'Tis a bad omen!" Mrs. Perry moaned. "Will you go away?" This time the voice was not quite so soft or musical; there was a loud splash in accompaniment.

"I expect we'd better," Uncle Tippy decided, motioning to the others. He had not been a favorite guardian for 20 years without having learned when to give in.

Connie listened to the footsteps dying away. The frown between her prettily arched brows vanished, her lips curved in a little victorious smile. What good were seventy-some-odd millions if she could not be late to her own announcement party?

Not that she had any reason to be late. Except that the water was warm and fragrant and soothing and suddenly she was sick to the soul of parties and maids and butlers and guests. As for Rodney, an anxious moment or two might be good for that young man.

Her childhood had been spent practically in isolation on the 6000 acre estate of Corby Farms, with "This should be the happiest day of my life, I suppose," Connie thought, standing before her dressing mirror. . . . But her reflection held no laughter.

"THIS should be the happiest day of my life, I suppose," Connie thought, a few minutes its miles and miles of guarded roads and its myriad locked gates. Her education had been conducted by private tutors. She had traveled abroad extensively, but she could not walk in the streets of any American city, enter any public place, attend any social function without being trailed by private detectives.

Bagfuls of mail were opened by her secretaries. Crank letters. People who wanted to meet her. Supplications for money. Threats. At times the deluge rose to such proportion that flight became the necessary precaution. Everywhere she went, as soon as her identity was revealed, it was necessary to move on.

Yet the whole world knew what Constance Corby wore, with whom she danced; that she painted her toenails to match her lips and wore a gold slave anklet; how she had wept when her Irish terrier had been killed—and had had a costly tombstone put over his grave; that she liked hot-chocolate, but had once asked an orchestra to play "I Love You Truly"; slept in a bed that had belonged to Marie Antoinette, breakfasted from a solid-gold service, loathed publicity and photographers, and that she would, eventually, marry Rodney Brandon.

Rodney was tall and bronzed and blond. There was an air of breeding and distinction about him. He said now, coming to meet Connie at the door of the long, curving stairway, bowing in mock servility, "Dear hum-bly henchman awaits with impatience that is now rewarded. You look more beautiful than I have ever seen you—if that's possible, darling. May I claim this first dance?"

So that Connie, smiling down on him, wondered further why her heart did not quicken, her pulses stir, why she did not feel a flood of happiness as he took her in his arms and spun her onto the polished floor.

NEW YEAR GREETINGS

Eventide—the blue shadows of dusk falling down on the Laguna Hills—the last twilight of the year. When the sunlight shines again on the soft brown of new-ploughed fields and the vivid green of young grain on the slopes of the hills, it will be not only another day, but another year.

What will it bring to us, to you and to me? To our friends and neighbors? To our beloved country? To all the restive and anguished world? In these troubled times who can prophesy?

One thing I can prophesy, and that with confidence and assurance. To every man or woman who loves a garden and who works therein will come a measure of peace and serenity. "God Almighty first planted a garden; and, indeed, it is the purest of human pleasures; it is the greatest refreshment to the spirit of man," wrote Lord Bacon three centuries ago. And many before his day—and many since—have found in a garden pleasure and refreshment.

Gardens Bring Healing
Every one of us who has ever loved a garden and labored therein knows that a garden brings not only health to the body, but healing to the mind. Digging in the good earth, working in unison with the elements, the intimacy with set out. The garden is watered with a long, heavy hose from two faucets.

No slug or snail molests the children's gardens. Miss Camblin thinks this is because the school grounds are dry and hard and the streets around the gardens are paved. Last year hundreds of Spanish iris were in bloom at the same time making a beautiful display.

Repair Trees and Shrubs --- Restore Gophered Roots with

GROBARK

Unexcelled for Pruning, Budding and Grafting

Grobark will save your valuable trees, vines and shrubs. Grobark, a healing emulsion and sap stimulant, seals air tight and water proof. Next to nature it is the most powerful and successful compound ever made to assist new bark growth and reduce injury and damage.

Tree wounds on either limbs or roots where not entirely encircled or broken off, heal quickly when repaired with Grobark.

FOR PRUNING, GRAFTING, AND BUDDING. Grobark not only seals over bud and graft, but it holds longer than any compound you can buy AND IT PROVIDES A STIMULANT TO THE SAP FLOW which produces quick healing and new growth.

ALWAYS ASK FOR GROBARK WHEN YOU BUY A PRUNING OR GRAFTING COMPOUND AND BARK RESTORER

Grobark contains no harmful chemicals or oils, and assists nature in restoring growth. In pruning rose bushes if Grobark is spread generously over pruning cuts it will prevent die-back of stems and preserve the shape of your plants.

FOR GOPHERED TREES. Citrus and avocado tree roots badly gophered have been repaired, covered with Grobark and quickly restored with no resulting die-back.

The dormant period is the most favorable time to apply Grobark, because while trees, plants, shrubs and vines are without foliage careful examination and treatment is made more convenient and effective.

Grobark is low in cost and easy to apply. It is sold everywhere in seed and hardware stores, nurseries and orchard supply houses. Sold in tin and steel containers from 1 pint to 55 gallon drums. Keep a supply on hand. Use it on injured trees and plants.

GROBARK is essential wherever damage occurs to valuable trees, shrubs and vines.

GROBARK has been thoroughly tested and proved on practically every variety of tree, shrub or vine growing in the West. It is non-injurious and non-poisonous.

GROBARK is inexpensive and properly applied will save your valuable trees and shrubs.

GROBARK is used exclusively in the German proving grounds and nurseries.

ORANGE, Jan. 6.—Bishop James C. Baker of the San Francisco diocese gave a detailed report of the Oxford conference in London last summer, when he spoke last night at the first of a series of church night programs at the First Methodist church.

He told of plans which are to be completed in May for forming a world council of churches and which were instituted at the conference attended by 800 delegates from all parts of the world, students, political leaders and religious leaders.

Discussions, he said, were centered in five divisions of thought. The factors which divide peoples of the world, the relation of the church to the economic order, church and education, and relation of religion to the social order.

"Great advances are being made in church unity, the church being an organized fellowship with a purpose which cannot be denied," he said. "Regardless of world conditions, right will prevail with God as King."

The speaker was introduced by Dr. J. E. Dunning, of Santa Ana, superintendent of the Methodist churches of the San Diego district. R. C. Patton presided. More than 140 were present at a dinner served by members of the R. P. C. class with Mrs. C. A. Armstrong as chairman of the dinner committee.

The pastor, the Rev. Arthur T. Hobson, gave a talk on the missionary program of the church. John Stoner sang "Serving Man, Serving God." He was accompanied by Miss Emily Joost. Dr. Robert Burns McAlister and a number of members of the First Presbyterian church of which he is pastor, and the Rev. Myron C. Cole of the First Christian church and a number of members of that church attended the assembly and address.

EVEN THE KIDS

Saw the Difference

The kids used to think they had a grouchy dad until he got all the bills he was worrying about into one obligation at the Community Finance Co.

The transaction was simple, the loan was granted without delay, the bills were all paid, the payments easy, and dad was able to make his check cover all his expenses, and leave a little to live by. Ask about our 4-Fold Finance Plan.

DRIVE CAREFULLY
—SAVE A LIFE—

ADJ 238764

Certain mysterious messages were circulating on government wires during the Christmas season. This is the forbidding way they started out:

"Executive Order ADJ 238764—12:18:37—Refer Rf: 978,243"

Probably many a government employee out in the field and far from the Washington which was sending the wires watched intently to see what formal and official instructions were thus forbiddingly headlined.

Then came the explanation:

"Subject: Christmas greetings."

So, you see, the beauties of bureaucracy and the glories of red tape are much the same whether they are set up in Washington, whether they snarl and bedevil the Soviet economy, or whether they encase German life under Hitler.

"ALIEN PROBLEM" RECEDING

Back around 1920 there was a good deal of worry about the "alien problem." There were believed to be about 7,000,000 aliens in the country, that is, people who still owed allegiance to a foreign land and none to the country in which they were getting a living.

Today, immigration officials estimate the number of aliens at 4,300,000. Why the decrease?

First, quotas and other restrictions in immigration. Second, restrictions in many countries against emigration. Germany and Italy have filled less than half of their small quotas in recent years.

And third, aliens have been seeking U. S. citizenship in greater numbers, driven by fear of war in their former homes, and drawn by the realization that America has something very rare and very precious, after all, the liberty of a man to be a man, and not just an infinitesimal unit in a swarming myriad of Charlie McCarthys.

BAYONETS AND BALONEY

China is now to be favored with formation of the Hsin Min Hui, or New Citizens' Society. It is Japan's answer to the anti-Japanese feeling that seems to be spreading, somehow, through those parts of China not already occupied by Japanese troops.

There has been an anti-Japanese feeling in China for some time. Probably it began back when the Japanese seized Korea. The grabbing of Kiao-chow during the World war and the attempt to get Shantung probably didn't help.

Then, back in 1932, there was a little slaughtering around Shanghai, and a little grabbing in Manchuria, which seemed to further annoy those unreasonable Chinese.

Now that Japanese troops occupy most of North China, and have reduced Shanghai and Nanking to shambles, further anti-Japanese feeling is found. It is strange, but, there it is. So the Hsin Min Hui Society is going to propagandize against it. After the bayonets, in other words, comes the baloney.

REAPPRAISING STOCK EXCHANGE

A nine-man committee to study and recommend changes in the organization and administration of the New York Stock Exchange, has been appointed by the exchange's president, Charles R. Gay. The committee includes, besides five members of the exchange, two representatives of companies with listed stocks, and two who represent the general public.

By doing this, in the words of Norman Stabler, financial editor of the New York Herald Tribune, the exchange, "has reasonably taken the position that it is ready to have its form of organization and administration reappraised by a group of qualified and representative men, selected from the officials of large corporations whose securities are on its trading list, from members of the investment and banking brokerage community, and from the public."

"The exchange, obviously, is determined to have an open-minded study of its organization to the end that it may conform, so far as that may be reasonable, to the security and exchange commission's wishes. The committee will be expected to submit its recommendations as promptly as possible. If remedial changes are necessary for the exchange better to serve the public, it will be ready, no doubt, to make them. There is, in the present condition of business, imperative need of rapprochement between Wall street and Washington. The Stock Exchange recognizes this and has taken steps in that direction."

Here is abundant evidence that the exchange is open to constructive criticism and ready and eager to go more than half way with the government in planning and consummating steps that are really in the interest of the investigating public.

SANTA'S RECORD

Fortunately Santa Claus hadn't heard about the business recession, or depression, or whatever it is—or was. Speaking through his deputy, Postmaster General (Call me Jim) Farley, he announced that December 21 was the biggest single day in postal history, both as to regards volume and receipts. The whole Christmas mail set a new record.

America's heart is bigger than its pocket-book. Given any kind of a chance, that same spirit will start the country again on the upward path in 1938.

But the people have to be given some kind of a chance.

Sharing the Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Hoiles

POPULAR AND UNPOPULAR VIEWS OF UNEMPLOYMENT

With the very rapid decline in industrial production and the steel output dropping more drastically than it has in some 50 years in the last three months, and with the present administration, through Assistant Attorney General Robert H. Jackson, contending that big business is attempting to liquidate the New Deal, the popular beliefs that cause unemployment and the unpopular beliefs of what causes unemployment should be a subject to be discussed courageously and impassionately.

The success in bringing about a general understanding on this subject never was more important than it is today. If we solve it, we will go forward into a much higher standard of living than we ever had. If we fail to solve it, our standard of living will continue to go lower.

Popular Beliefs

The popular belief, as advocated by the administration and by many of the educators, labor leaders and reformers without experience, is that industry has been so shortsighted that it did not pay enough wages to the workers so that the wage earners could buy back what they produced.

If the present wage earners produced all the wealth, then this statement could be entirely logical. If the wage earners produce all the wealth as claimed in this statement, then it is ridiculous for them to leave any of the wealth for those who furnish capital. They should proceed in producing the wealth and see that capital gets nothing if it produces nothing.

In the first place, WAGE EARNERS only represent about two-thirds of the total workers—the total people gainfully employed. One-third, or about 17,000,000 people, are working without being paid direct wages. They are working for themselves. They are farmers, small business men and professional men.

Then, again, with the use of tools made possible as the result of former workers sacrificing enjoyment and consumption, the production is greatly augmented. In fact, if it were not for the tools of former workers, there would not be enough production to sustain the life of one out of every hundred workers.

It is evident, from these reasons, that the wage earners are not the only producers and, consequently, are not entitled to consume all that is produced. Tomorrow the unpopular theory of unemployment.

"SCIENTIFIC PLANNING"

We, who think we are kind to our children, send them to school where the brighter part of the class is obliged to read six big books from Rugg. They have very little time to read any other author on social science.

In today's issue, on page one, appears the quotation to the effect that the Russian Five-Year Plan is the most daring and at the same time the most SCIENTIFIC attempt that a large nation has ever made to plan its way of living.

As to what the author means by scientific, it is difficult to comprehend. If he had said, experimental, he might have been telling the truth but to say that it is scientific to take away from individuals the right to use their initiative and to be compelled to live their lives as a dictator at the force of a gun compels them to do and to give up the very foundation of Protestant Christianity and claim that this is scientific, is about as far from the truth as it can be.

The framers of the Constitution of the United States were men of vivid experience in despotism. They realized that there were certain inalienable rights that the individual must have if there were to be progress. Rugg, in reality, says that the framers of the Constitution and the people of the United States and the Christian people who believe in the right of worship, are not as scientific as Stalin.

We cannot but wonder how many people have to be shot down without a trial, how many people have to starve—millions and millions estimated—in order to make a method of planning scientific.

ASPIRATIONS UNSOUND

The President, in his speech, desires to have the government attempt to raise the wages of those who are receiving the least pay.

It does not seem to us to be a sound aspiration for the government to be interested in raising the wages of any particular group. The government certainly should not be attempting to make it possible for the slow workers to be paid more per unit of service than the fast workers.

If they do, this is class legislation of the worst kind. If they do, they are encouraging people to be slow workers, in order to get the higher rate per unit of service.

On the other hand, neither should the government attempt to tell a man how long he should work. Men do not work because they want to, but because they want the fruits of work. And if the worker prefers to work long hours in order to get more pay, the government should not interfere, as he produces his own wages.

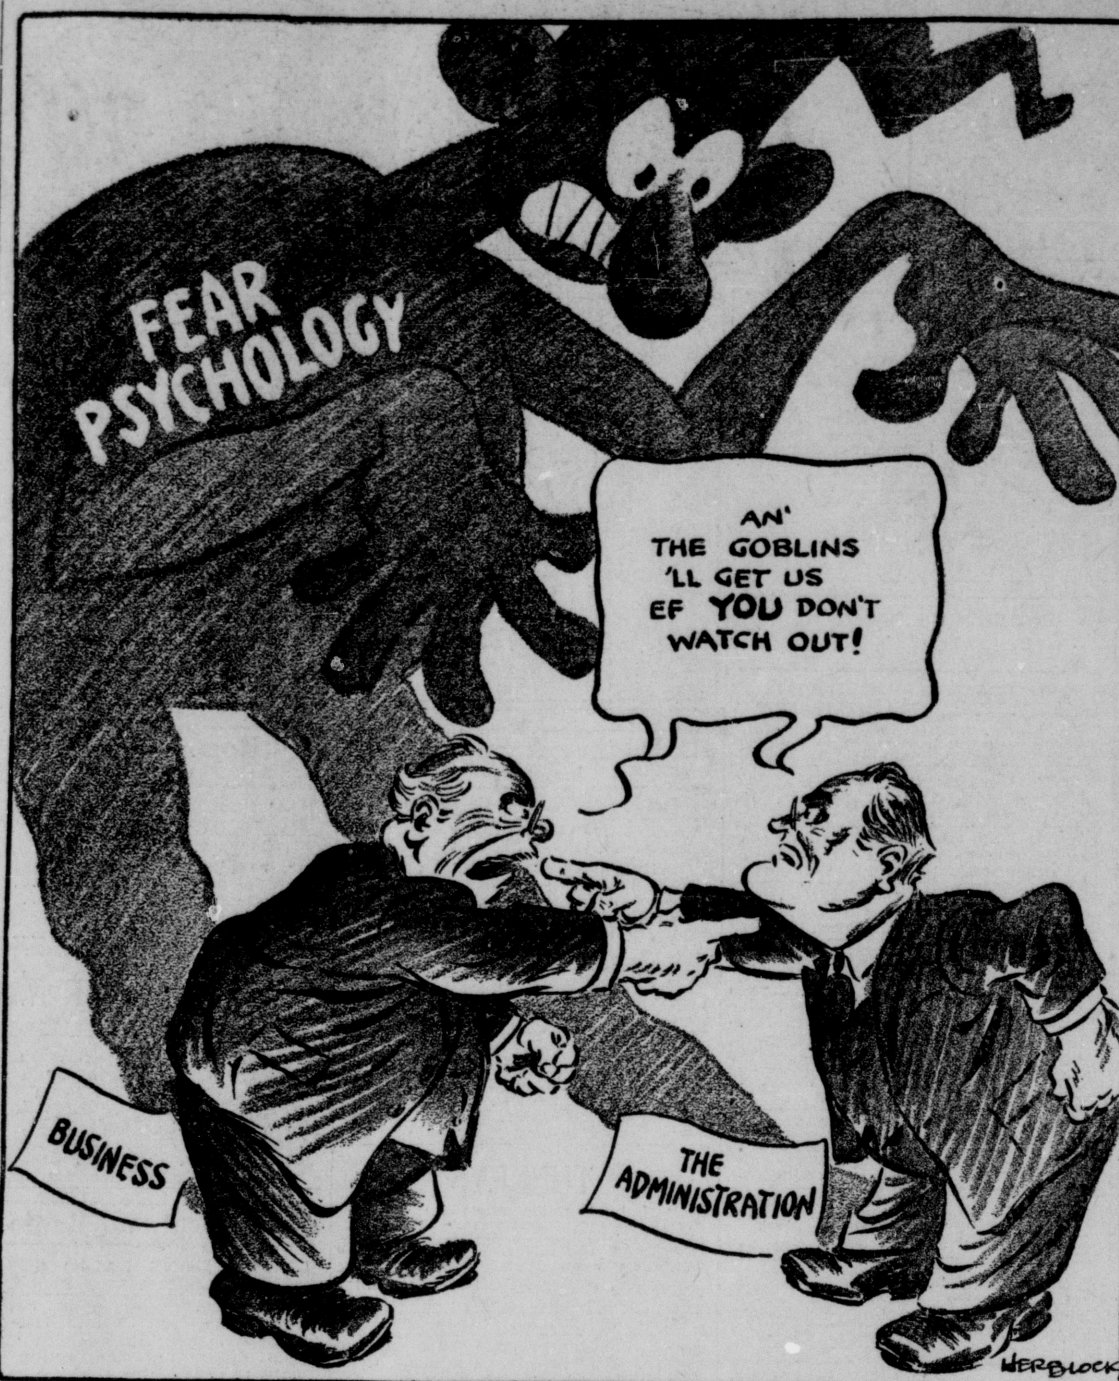

The only possible excuse for the government interfering is not because he keeps other people from having jobs as is commonly believed, but because he might possibly injure his health. The danger however, of this is much less than the serious results of interference and requiring him to reduce his income because of shorter hours.

A GOOD AMENDMENT

Chairman Taylor of the House Appropriations Committee, is proposing a federal Constitutional amendment that would give the President the power to veto particular items in appropriation bills without defeating the whole act.

It would seem that a move that would give some individual who was responsible to all the people the right to check pork barrel looting of the Treasury, would be a splendid move. As it is now, if they have a vicious amendment on an appropriation bill that should be passed the President is helpless as a representative of all the people to prevent the pork barrel part of the bill from passing.

Who?

General Hugh S. JOHNSON Says

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The President's message was one of the most comprehensive he has delivered. It said little that was new but was a clarification of much that has been misty.

There was a clear warning of an armament program based on dangers abroad. The budget is to remain at 7 billions. If there is to be a balance, it is to be through rising national income returning more revenue at existing tax rates—and income in now falling.

Changes in undistributed profits and capital gains taxes are to be made to correct "hardships" particular to small business men. Something much more than that is needed.

The agricultural policy remains a fascist control over crops, coupled with Mr. Wallace's ever-ga-ga-granary.

The labor policy as to collective bargaining, remains the same with some little scolding of labor for disunion and a plea for security salaries on an annual basis instead of high hourly rates.

A strong plea for a floor under wages and a ceiling over hours was coupled with a declaration for regional differentials and a suggestion that no change be made too drastic or too hastily.

A list of abuses in business and banking were stated, and business was assured of government co-operation, except for those who practice those abuses—described as a small minority.

There was a terse renewal of the recommendation for governmental reorganization.

Those who have criticized the farm policy as one of "scarcity," those who objected to Mr. Jackson's attack on business, and apparently, those who have criticized the Labor Relations Board, came in for charges of "wilful deception" or "deception that will not long deceive." There are other typical Rooseveltian touches—including the "White House visitor," who is always dramatized in a supposed conversation in direct quotes and then made to look like a heel by the President's sharp arguments.

This time, he was unable to suggest where government savings can be made. It is a cinch his name is not Harry Byrd. Five years ago, his name would not have been Franklin Roosevelt, who cut a billion from the budget in two months.

So far, as the eloquence of this message goes, it was an excellent plea for the proposals for which this Administration was elected.

The only new major element was the emphasis on the need for new anti-trust acts. Stated as the President stated them, the abuses to be addressed should be cured except that I don't know how you can prevent an industry from moving from one state to another.

But this was a speech of generalities. With all his knowledge of the subject, I don't see how the President, himself, could approve the present impossible wages-and-hours bill, and he didn't discuss it.

The answer to his question about reducing costs of relief is to return it to the states where it belongs and aid the states where necessary by grants.

The discussion of the principles of the farm bill was something less than a head-on answer to sincere critics of it. The denial that any responsible person in government has smeared capital in pretty general terms will sound strange to those who heard Mr. Robert Jackson.

The only business men who can get much comfort out of any real "come-hither-and-cooperate" gesture in this speech are optimists with bad memories.

There has been a tendency in the Third New Deal to assert principles and general statements, with which no progressive person can disagree, and then clothe them with specific statutory proposals which tend to set up a fascist control of the states and of agriculture, industry and, to a lesser extent, of labor. There is nothing in this speech to indicate any different trend. There is only a charge of insincerity in those who accept these high objectives but object to these subversive methods. It seems we are all really just trying to sabotage the whole program.

Editor Register: Why do the taxpayers of Orange County delay having a Taxpayers league. Such a league has done much good in Los Angeles county, why not here?

There are so many interesting new laws such a league might investigate. Also we might investigate why are taxes so much higher.

Has the wiping out of back taxes on hundreds of acres and lots anything to do with high taxes? What benefit were these deals of the Controller's office to you, Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer? When approximately $100 per parcel, or more, has been cancelled who pays the bills? Does the Tax Collector get the money for the sale of these lots to credit against back taxes? Why not investigate? Did the supervisors approve such a sale of land? We had a moratorium law which gave the property owner a splendid chance to save his property by paying on the ten year plan. What is this other law which allows the land to be sold without the back taxes being paid, that is, they are wiped out? Where is this law? Is this the law the Governor didn't sign? Or did he?

Why so much activity for the zoning or planning department?

VACCINATION AS DISEASE PREVENTIVE STILL UNCERTAIN VALUE IN SOME CASES

This is the second of two articles in which Dr. Fishbein discusses vaccination for prevention of disease.

..... Diseases in which the use of preventive methods is not fully established as of definite value include particularly scarlet fever, whooping cough, and infantile paralysis.

Experiments made on scarlet fever, particularly by Doctors George F. and Gladys H. Dick have shown that the method has usefulness. The Dick test gives an idea of the resistance of the individual to the disease. However, the Dick test at its best is not as certain in relation to scarlet fever as the Schick test in diphtheria.

While many children have been inoculated against scarlet fever to give them immunity to the disease, not enough is known as to the duration of immunity or its effectiveness to recommend inoculation as a routine.

There may be, however, certain people who should be inoculated. For example, the nurses and the internes in hospitals for infectious diseases may find it best to be protected.

Whooping cough also is a disease in which medicine still searches for a certain method of prevention. Today's vaccines are far superior, in preparation and power to prevent or shorten the duration of the disease, to preparations used in previous years.

However, information on the effectiveness of these preparations under various conditions is not such as to suggest that every child be given these injections. No one knows how long the resistance to whooping cough lasts. A single attack of the disease is not a preventive because second attacks of whooping cough are not infrequent. On the other hand, a second attack of diphtheria is rare.

Finally, whooping cough occurs in young children and in infants, and the ability to produce resistance in such young infants is not as good as in the older child.

It was thought until recently that vaccine had been discovered that would be useful in preventing infantile paralysis. It is known now that those vaccines were not safe, nor was there enough evidence collected to be really certain that they were useful. At present, no one would recommend the inoculation of children against infantile paralysis by the use of vaccines of the living or of de-vitalized viruses of this disease.

The so-called method of blocking the nose by means of various chemical solutions is not to be considered a method of raising resistance. Such resistance is a function of the blood and of the tissues. Blocking the nose is merely setting up a mechanical obstruction against the virus, which apparently in the majority of cases enters by the way of the nerves which pass from the upper part of the nose. Until much more is known about this method of mechanical blocking, its routine use on a large scale does not appear to be warranted.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The twelve men in a hole writing the farm bill have been working with dynamite, scissors and short circuits. You may shortly see them exit from their conference via the capitol dome, and probably with it, feet first.

Shortest of the circuits contrived in their subterranean meeting is one involving the Bolleau-McNary dairy amendment, which would prevent a farmer from giving a glass of milk or an egg, presumably even if fried, to his next door neighbor.

Now, that one was adopted by both houses of Congress therefore, it is not legally under consideration by the conferees. It cannot be altered or eliminated by them, but it will be, here's how:

After many a sleepless day, one hole worker who appeared in the dark to be Senator Bankhead, discovered that there was a difference in the identical Bolleau and McNary amendments. Mr. Bolleau tacked his on the soil conservation part of the bill. Senator McNary added the same thing, word for word to the parity payments provision. Therefore—and don't laugh please—the identical amendments are different and the conferees may change them.

This reasoning may seem a little too circuitous to you, but it is straight enough for the conferees. They have decided thus to take the most objectionable parts out of the Bolleau-McNary edit, send it to the House for ratification and then get the Senate to recede.

However, they do not want Rep. Bolleau or Senator McNary to know about it, as a premature slide may develop in the hole.

..... The scissors trick is a little more complicated, in fact, so complicated that all the hole workers have managed to do so far is to cut themselves.

Two or more of them were seen coming up for air and advice the other day, and were noted trooping into the office of Mr. Garner, the budget-balancing V. P. their problem, as outlined by one of them later, is this: Mr. Roosevelt has repeatedly said he wants the cost limited to $500,000,000, or new taxes levied against heavy industry.

Agriculture Secretary Wallace also has complained about the cost, but privately he has estimated to congressmen the bill as it stands will run over $650,000,000 and probably $800,000,000. Others suspect a billion would be nearer, if the truth were known.

They made no secret of the fact that Garner delivered a budget-balancing lecture to them. He told them the President had imposed on them the duty of limiting the bill to $500,000,000 as new taxes appeared to be out of the question.

But few feasible ways of shearing the total could be found. In the end they probably will cut a few corners off the bill, cross their fingers and announce the curtailment has been made.

..... When the Superior court has ruled zoning or planning ordinances against public policy.

Why the typewriter case? What about the county supervisors, attorney's salary and how much will it cost us? Why is one county officer's salary lowered and another raised, or perhaps I am mistaken and salaries are the same as formerly arranged, anyway, why don't we investigate, as it will not be long before another election day.

Yours very truly,
JANE FAIRCHILD,
Fullerton, Calif. 10.

One thing is certainly certain. There will be no processing tax.

A private poll was taken on that question by the leaders of the House agriculture committee. It showed a majority of 15 to 7 against. A check of the ways and means committee, which would have to initiate such a tax, showed an even more pronounced majority against it. (Opposition even includes the chairman, Mr. Doughton). Leaders have dropped the subject.

..... Behind the farm bill dickering lies the essential trouble with Mr. Roosevelt's plan to rally the farmers and laborers for mutual support.

..... Opposition to the processing tax, shared apparently even by the President himself, is based on the fact that it would be paid by consumers in increased food and clothing prices. The labor crowd is dead set against that. Conversely if the wage-hour bill really increased labor purchasing power, the farmers would have to foot that bill in increased prices paid for lumber, machinery and manufactured products.

..... That is why there never has been a farmer-labor political movement of any consequence and probably never will be.

..... The annual government numbers game, more commonly known as budget making, is proceeding about the same as usual. New figures are somewhat clearer, but the conclusion is just as inconclusive as ever.

..... The most significant figures were not those submitted today, but the ones submitted a year ago. If you will look back to the President's statement of January 1937, you will find he then estimated his receipts for this year at $7,250 millions. Now he estimates them at $6,320 millions. He was off nearly a billion dollars, but that is not all. He will not know how near his present guess is until next June 30. Expenses were estimated at $7,658 millions last January; now at $7,408 millions which is off $250,000,000.

..... There is no reason to believe his new guesses will turn out any better a year from now.

..... Assistant Attorney General (stone-thrower) Jackson is getting all the publicity as the White House fair haired lad of the moment, but your old friends Ben Cohen and Tom Corcoran are still around. They have been seen in the shadows, not far behind Jackson.

..... A newspaperman who got off the record interview from Mr. Cohen when he should have done, two weeks ago has found since the delivery of Mr. Roosevelt's message to Congress, that what Mr. Cohen thought was just about what Mr. Roosevelt later said.

..... Likewise, Mr. Corcoran was seen walking from the unwatched east entrance of the White House the other day arguing vehemently with General Jackson.
